Assembly Tomorrow to Discuss "General Situation" Will Be First President Has Taken Part in Since He Returned Ill From Speaking Tour.

RAILROAD WALKOUT REGARDED AS SERIOUS

Palmer to Make Report on Conditions With Recommendations on Action—Officials to Gather in White House Study.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—President Wilson today called a meeting of the Cabinet for tomorrow to discuss "the general situation."

White House officials would not say that the "unauthorized" railroad strike has prompted the call, but it was understood that this would be the principal subject discussed.

This is the first Cabinet meeting called by the President since he returned from his Western trip last September "a very sick man." Since his illness he has seen only a few members of his official family.

With freight traffic in the East seriously crippled, administration officials regard the strike situation as very serious. The President has been kept advised as to general conditions.

Attorney-General Palmer was studying additional reports today from Department of Justice field agents and was expected to make a complete report with recommendations to the executive.

It was announced at the White House that the Cabinet officers would assemble in the President's study instead of meeting in the executive offices.

This will be the first gathering of the Cabinet since the resignation of former Secretary of State Lansing on Feb. 13, after the President had rebuked him for calling unofficial meetings of the Cabinet during Mr. Wilson's illness.

White House officials said the President felt that he had recovered sufficiently to meet with the Cabinet and it was indicated that hereafter his official family would be called together at more or less stated intervals.

NAMING OF BOARD EXPECTED TO CAUSE RETURN TO WORK

East Continues to Be Strike Center; Some Gains Also in Northwest.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 13.—Railroad officials and brotherhood leaders were looking today to appointment by President Wilson of the Railroad Labor Board and the expected announcement by Attorney-General Palmer of the Government's attitude toward the "illegal" strike to bring the striking workers back to their posts.

Both railroad and union officials have reiterated that the roads are powerless to increase wages until the railroad board reviewed the requests now pending.

Appointment of the board is expected to prove a powerful lever in getting the men to return to work, and await the Government's action.

Strikers Gain in Northwest.

This, the thirteenth day of the unauthorized walkout, showed the deadlock continuing throughout all the district west of Ohio, with the exception of the far Northwest, where in Washington State the strikers have made some gains.

In the Chicago district the strikers have made no gains for four days, and, while they deny any defections from their ranks, the railroads have each day increased the amount of traffic handled. The

Palmer Asks for Names of Strikers and Their Leaders

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 13.

THE Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads were asked today by the Department of Justice to send the names of all their striking employes and to indicate which of them were leaders in the walkout.

Department officials flatly refused to discuss the meaning of the messages or to indicate whether similar requests would go forward to the executive of other railroad corporations.

The text of telegram follows:

"Please send us at once the names of all of your employes who are on strike, indicating the names of any of them who appear to be directing the movement in whole or in part."

ROCKEFELLERS GAVE $340,000 TO DRYS IN LAST 20 YEARS

"Not a Very Large Gift," Son Says in Denying Payment of Worker's Salary.

John D. Rockefeller Jr., who is here today in the interest of the Interchurch World Movement, was asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter for a statement on the Rockefeller gifts to the Anti-Saloon League and other agencies of the prohibition movement, which have been the subject of many varying representations. He replied that in the last 20 years he and his father had given $340,000 to the prohibition movement.

"Some absurd stories have been told as to the princely sums that my father and I were giving to the Anti-Saloon League," Rockefeller said. "We have always kept an accurate record of gifts, just as we do of all financial matters, and before leaving New York I checked these accounts and found that, since 1900, we have given to prohibition societies, including the Anti-Saloon League and other similar organizations, $340,000, or an average of $17,000 annually, not a very large gift as gifts are reckoned these days. One report had it that one of the officials of the Anti-Saloon League was in our employ, and was being paid $15,000 annually. I doubt whether any man in the employ of that organization is receiving more than one-fifth of that amount. Certainly none of them is in the employ of either my father or myself."

EMPLOYERS REQUIRED TO HIRE CHAUFFEURS FOR PLUMBERS

67 Journeymen Said to Control Trade at Birmingham, Ala., to Extent That They Bar Apprentices.

By the Associated Press.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 13.—Master plumbers of Birmingham are required to furnish chauffeurs to drive union plumbers to and from work and the chauffeurs are not permitted to do any plumbing work, according to findings of a committee of allied civic clubs which investigated the recent demand of the union men for a wage of $12 a day.

The committee said today its inquiry also had disclosed that 67 journeymen plumbers dominated the plumbing work of the city; that use of apprentices in union shops was forbidden, with a view to restricting the number of available plumbers, and that unskilled labor was not permitted to work on plumbing jobs, even where no skill was required.

HOUSE TO GIVE EVIDENCE OF FRAUD AT CAMPS TO PALMER

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—After nearly two days' debate the House adopted a resolution directing that evidence obtained by its special committee which investigated the building of army camps be turned over to the Attorney-General with the request that he seek indictment of persons guilty of criminal conduct, and institute civil suits for recovery of money fraudulently or illegally paid during the war-time emergency construction.

STUTZ CHAIRMAN RESIGNS FROM NEW YORK EXCHANGE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Allan A. Ryan, chairman of the Stutz Motor Car Co., resigned today from the New York Stock Exchange and accused members of the board of governors of being short in Stutz stock, trading in which was suspended by the exchange when the price skyrocketed.

The Exchange suspended trading in Stutz after it had jumped from 100 to 391 under shorts' efforts to cover. Since then the stock has brought 701 at auction, and the Exchange has begun an investigation of trading in Strombery Motor, which is also controlled by Ryan.

SWITCHMEN STILL OUT ON SIXTH DAY OF OUTLAW STRIKE

100 SECTION MEN QUIT IN NORTH END

Trouble Over Discharge of Negroes—Six of 19 Three-Men Crews in One Missouri Pacific Shift on Duty.

Switchmen of the Terminal Association, and of most of the railroads in the St. Louis terminal district, remained out this morning, this being the sixth day of the insurgent strike for an increase from $4.72 to $7.60 a day in switchmen's wages, and for corresponding increases in the pay of other yard workers.

The railroad executives issued a statement this afternoon denying reports that they would deal with the strikers as an organization. "The railroads," they declared, "now have contracts with their men, and will look to them to return to their posts and fulfill their obligations under these agreements."

General Manager Burlingame of the Terminal said that all the engineers and firemen needed were at work, and that, with the "white collar" force of switchmen, who are officials and clerical employes of the Terminal, passenger traffic into and out of Union Station was moving satisfactorily. He said he had heard of no change in the situation as to the Terminal's striking switchmen.

The freight and express embargoes continue, except that, according to announcements made today to the Chamber of Commerce, freight in less than carload lots is now being received by the Southern, Cotton Belt, Illinois Central, Mobile & Ohio and Big Four. The I. C. and M. & O., in their announcement, make an exception of perishable freight; the Big Four specifies that it shall be freight for points on its line, and for human consumption, or coal and oil for public utilities.

100 Section Hands Quit.

Policemen reported that nearly 100 section hands, white men and negroes, employed by the Terminal Association in the Bremen avenue yards, near Hall street, quit work at 8:30 a. m. today, when 12 negroes were discharged because of difficulty with a foreman. Other men refused to take the places of the discharged negroes, and the walkout soon developed.

Officials of the railroad employes' brotherhoods, which are fighting the switchmen's strike, continued today to predict that the insurgent organization, the St. Louis District Yardmen's Association, would collapse, and that the men would have to return to work and leave the settlement of their claims to the brotherhoods, through the arbitration board to be appointed by President Wilson. The railroad executives have left the settlement of the strike in the hands of the brotherhoods, with which they have their contracts.

18 Strikers Resume Work.

Six crews of switchmen, three men to a crew, in the Missouri Pacific yards at Twenty-third street and Chouteau avenue, who have been on strike, went back to work at 8 a. m. today, following a meeting of lodge 64 of the switchmen of that road yesterday afternoon. The regular number of crews in the 8 o'clock shift is 19. The foreman predicted that the number coming back on the 4 p. m. and midnight shifts would be considerably larger.

The publicity committee of the Yardmen's Association announced that Lodge 727 of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, consisting of the Merchants' Bridge yard forces in the Madison district, the Terminal Association and C. and A. yardmen in the Venice district, the C. and E. I. yardmen in the Lenox yards, and the Clover Leaf employes in the Madison yards, representing approximately 360 men, voted yesterday to remain out. The grievance committee of Lodge 727 resigned from the B. R. T., it was said.

At strike headquarters, it was announced that the yardmen in Quincy, Ill., had gone out, according to a dispatch. The strike leaders yesterday said they had assurance that the yardmen in Moberly, Hannibal and Illmo, Mo., and Carbondale and Murphysboro, Ill., would go out today.

RAILROAD LABOR BOARD APPOINTED BY PRESIDENT

Body to Be Authorized to Meet at Once in Washington to Consider Strike of Switchmen.

MEMBERS TO GET $10,000 A YEAR

They Will Form Court of Last Resort in Rail Disputes—A. O. Wharton of St. Louis Named.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The Railroad Labor Board was appointed today by President Wilson. The members are:

The board will be authorized to meet in Washington at once to take up the grievances of the railroad employes now on strike.

The nominations were considered later by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, which decided to withhold action for 24 hours in order to enable it to obtain some information regarding especially the members of the public group.

Under the transportation act the Railroad Labor Board is the court of last resort in disputes between the roads and their employes. Its first work, after considering the present strike, will be to take up the whole railroad wage question which has been pending for nearly a year.

$10,000 Salary for Each.

The board is to establish permanent headquarters at Chicago and its members will devote all of their time to the work. They will receive salaries of $10,000 a year, each.

Hunt, one of the public representatives, is appointed for one year. He is a former Mayor of Cincinnati and a former member of the Ohio House of Representatives. During the war he was a captain in the national army. Since 1915 he had been a member of the board of trustees of the Cincinnati Southern Railway, a city-owned utility.

Hangar, another representative of the public, is named for two years. He is Assistant Commissioner of the United States Board of Mediation and Conciliation, and as a member of that body has had considerable experience in handling labor disputes.

Judge Barton, the third member, is a former Judge of the Tennessee Court of Appeals, and is appointed for three years.

Horace Baker, appointed to represent the railroad executives for three years is a former general manager of the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railroad.

Missourian on Board.

J. H. Elliot of Texas, is appointed for two years. He formerly was general manager of the Texas & Pacific Railroad, and subsequently a Colonel in the Transportation Corps of the A. E. F.

Wharton, whose home is in Missouri, is an official of the Railway Employes Department of the American Federation of Labor, and a member of the Board of Railway Wages and Working Conditions of the United States Railroad administration. His term is for two years.

ROCKEFELLER ACTS AS OWN BELLBOY AT HOTEL JEFFERSON

Four Hotel Jefferson bellboys matched coins this morning to see who should carry the luggage of John D. Rockefeller Jr., upon his arrival at the hotel. The winner, as the approach of the party was signaled by the doorman, hurried to the door and reached out his hands eagerly for Rockefeller's bags.

"Never mind," said Rockefeller, "I am quite accustomed to carrying these myself."

ROCKEFELLER JR. OUTLINES WORLD CHURCH MOVEMENT

TO MAKE CAMPAIGN FOR $336,777,572

Gov. Carl E. Milliken of Maine, Another Member of Party, Addresses City Club Luncheon.

John D. Rockefeller Jr. of New York, in a luncheon address before the Chamber of Commerce at the Planters Hotel today, outlined the purposes and the finances of the Interchurch World Movement. He is a member of the executive committee of the movement, and is head of a party of 19 which is in St. Louis today, in the course of a tour in the interests of the movement, in which 30 Protestant denominations are represented. A canvass to raise $336,777,572 is to follow, but no solicitation is being made today.

At the same time, Gov. Carl E. Milliken of Maine, another member of the party, addressed the City Club at luncheon. A reception at the Second Baptist Church, King's Highway and Washington boulevard, was scheduled to follow the luncheons, and Rockefeller and others of the party are to have dinner at the St. Louis Club. Gov. Milliken will speak to Congregational men tonight at Pilgrim Church, Union boulevard and Kensington avenue. The party will depart at 10:15 p. m. for Cincinnati. Hotel Jefferson is headquarters for the party today.

Rockefeller, in his luncheon talk, said that the war had been fought to end the domination of force in the world, and that, since the war, men have turned to individualism as a solution of the world's problems, and have descended from the wartime plane of unselfishness and sacrifice. Happiness and good will have not come with peace, he declared. The solution, he said, must be "something that is centuries old—the reintroduction into the hearts and lives of men and women of the spirit and the life of the simple Carpenter of Nazareth."

Churches Have Responsibility.

The churches, he declared, are charged with this responsibility, and the task is not one with which small fragments of the church can cope. Co-operation is needed, and therefore the Interchurch World Movement has been organized.

"Some 30 denominations, and a far larger number of denominational organizations, home and foreign mission publications, educational and the like, are included in this movement," he said.

"Seventy per cent of the Protestant Christians of this land are counted within its numbers today," said Rockefeller. "They tell me some 20,000,000 Christian men and women are in this Interchurch Movement. What a great force this is! What a great power it can exert if you and I, if every man and woman who is interested in the great question, in the great problems of the day, does his or her share in the advancing of the interests of this enterprise!

"There are those who fear that this movement is something which is going to rise above the churches and dominate them. Let me correct any such misapprehension. This movement is a movement created by the churches and run entirely by them. It is an instrument in their hands of accomplishing their purposes, the tasks that have been put upon them."

The Financial Campaign.

Rockefeller then spoke of the financial campaign, to be begun before the end of April. He said the amount sought, more than $336,000,000, appeared to be stupendous, and yet that the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Church, South, had within a year or two raised $165,000,000, and the Southern Baptists $100,000,000, so that $336,000,000 did not seem such a formidable amount.

"This sum is made up," he said, "by adding together the budgets of the separate denominations—just such budgets as they would have gone out independently to raise this very spring. It is not bringing in vast sums of money now to be raised, and so each denomination will be seeking its own proportion of this total in which there are also included some $40,000,000, part of which—a small part of which—will be used by the consent of the constituent or-

GIRL SENTENCED IN MARCH FOUND AT WORK FOR SHERIFF

Negress Served as Maid at Nothing Per Month Until Judge Heard of It.

Sheriff Bopp of St. Louis County lost a likely negro housemaid, at nothing per month, and a washwoman at a slight advance over that figure when Pauline Wilson, 17 years old, was sent away today to the Industrial School for Colored Girls at Tipton, Mo.

On March 3 the girl was sentenced to the industrial school for grand larceny and a commitment was made out, but Mrs. Bopp needed a housemaid and a washerwoman, so the Sheriff turned the girl over to her and stuck the commitment in his desk.

Yesterday Circuit Judge McElhinney heard about it and reprimanded the Sheriff and on his orders Mrs. Sue Barge, Deputy Sheriff, took the girl away today.

Sheriff Bopp expansively explained that there was nothing to it. It was just one of the Judge's little jokes. The girl didn't do much, anyway. She just helped out at noon time, and that was because she wanted to. No, he did not pay for it. She also did the washing, but he paid her something for that. How much? Never mind.

The reason he kept her was that she was only 17 and should have been tried in the Juvenile Court. Anyhow, there was nothing to it and it was none of the public's business.

Judge McElhinney said the girl was more than 17, but if she had been 17 it would have made no difference.

AIRPLANE WITH 8 MACHINE GUNS TO BE TESTED ON BORDER

Other Inventions Ready for Trial by Army Flyers Include New Compass and Oxygen Heater.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—An army airplane remodeled to carry eight machine guns has been sent to the Mexican border for official test. In addition to the two guns synchronized to fire between the propeller blades, the plane has two fixed guns set to fire through the floor of the pilot's cockpit, two on the upper gun mount, and two to fire through the floor of the observer's cockpit. In some planes the floor guns will be mounted so as to permit flexible aiming.

Other inventions ready for testing by army fliers include a new model gyroscopic compass, weighing only 17 pounds, and a heater for oxygen to be used in high altitudes.

CITIZENS SELLING VOTES WARNED OF FAKE LIQUOR PRESCRIPTIONS

Check on Drug Stores Reveals Thousands of Whisky Orders, Used to Buy Ballots, Were False.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, August 13.—Capt. Hubert Howard, prohibition commissioner of Illinois, issued a warning to all citizens "intending to sell their votes for liquor prescriptions" to "insist on the genuine."

Political workers, he declared, are buying votes with fake prescriptions.

"Last Tuesday a large number of voters sold their votes for liquor prescriptions and the druggists got stung," he said. "When we checked the drug stores we found thousands of fake prescriptions, and we have warned the druggists to be on the lookout today."

OFFICIAL TABULATION SHOWS GAIN OF 85,971 OVER 1910 FIGURES

773,000 Is Exact Census Shown by Adding Machines

WASHINGTON, April 13.

ST. LOUIS' 773,000 is not an estimate but the actual total recorded by the adding machine of the Census Bureau. When the figures became known to officials last night, Miller Hamilton of the press section jokingly told Chief Statistician Hunt that they better add or subtract one lest people think the bureau had guessed at the result. "It's odd, but the total came out in exact thousands," said Hamilton. "I don't suppose that will happen in the case of any other large city under the law of averages, though quite a number of the smaller places will show even thousands. We have already had one—Huntington, Ind., with 14,000 even. Another place had 3333."

CENSUS IS HELD TO SHOW NEED OF ANNEXATION

"Every St. Louisan Must Work," Says President of Million Population Club—Mayor Disappointed.

Mayor Kiel, President Carter of the Chamber of Commerce, President Rosenfeld of the Million Population Club and John A. Burke, supervisor of the Census in St. Louis, said today that the lesson in the figure 773,000 as the Federal count of this city's population, is that the city must expand its boundaries, which have remained unchanged since 1876, and which shut out from count in population of this city communities in St. Louis County which are in reality a part of it.

"It isn't enough," Mayor Kiel said. "Either it is not a complete count of all our inhabitants, I fear, or else the census of 1910 was too optimistic. We will have to abide by the count, but I am sorry we have not more.

"The fact is that the city has been growing into the county. We must annex on the other side of that imaginary line, so that 10 years from now we won't have the same story to tell. If the census could show the population of the industrial district of which this city is the heart, as it does in other cities, St. Louis could announce a population of 1,000,000. I am not at all satisfied with this figure."

W. F. Carter, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said: "Naturally I don't feel as jubilant about such a figure as I would had it been closer to the million mark, but to those who worked in the census operation as we did at the Chamber of Commerce, I don't believe the figures are disappointing; it is fairly representative of the actual population within our corporate limits.

Fourth Place Probably Lost.

"We do feel, however, that 773,000 does not represent in a complete measure the great centering of population here. The increase in the country's population will be much more than 12 per cent, it will go well over 100,000, which means that because of antiquated legal provisions, and petty differences, there are 14 per cent more of St. Louis' population—people who do business and exist through the prosperity of St. Louis, who cannot be called, or counted St. Louisans in the Government's figures, because of boundary lines established when St. Louis was a third its present size.

"Neither would even this figure represent the vast centering of people here. Properly considered, this whole industrial district, both sides of the river, is one in every interest and in fact. There is in that district, beyond a doubt, 1,250,000 people, more people than are to be found in Vermont, Arizona, Wyoming, Nevada and Alaska combined.

"The Government's figures, showing a growth of 12.5 per cent, can

Believed in Washington That Detroit Will Go Ahead of This City With Possibly 900,000.

CLEVELAND, BOSTON IN RACE WITH ST. LOUIS

Official Announcement by Census Bureau Against Which City Is Allowed to Protest if Error Is Suspected

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—St. Louis, fourth city of the country in 1910, had a population of 773,000 on Jan. 1 of this year, and showed an increase of 85,971, or 12.5 per cent over 10 years ago.

The rate of growth during the last 10 years was the smallest of any decade since the founding of the city. The city has not increased its territorial limits in 44 years. The increase in number was smaller than in any decade since that ending in 1880, when the rate of increase was 12.8 per cent. Official announcement of the population was made by the Census Bureau today.

Detroit May Go to Fourth Place.

St. Louis is the first city of more than 500,000 whose population has been announced.

What rank it will take among other cities is still problematical. It is believed in Washington, however, that Detroit will jump into fourth place. Unofficially it is reported here that the count in Detroit showed a total of approximately 987,000. Civic organizations there are now combing the city for persons missed by the enumerators, in the hope that the total will be brought to a million.

With Detroit supplanting St. Louis as the city next in rank after New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, chief interest attaches to the race between St. Louis, Cleveland and Boston for fifth position. St. Louis may be passed by the Eastern cities and in that event would rank as seventh. Remarkable strides have been made by Cleveland, where the enumeration is said to have shown a population near to 800,000, while Boston has profited by the annexation of Hyde Park, with a population of 15,507 in 1910.

In the preliminary announcement by the Census Bureau, only the totals are given. Figures by wards and other statistics based on the enumeration will be given out from time to time. All the preliminary totals are published by the bureau subject to correction. The chief purpose of the publication, according to bureau officials, is to develop protests, so that mistakes may be promptly corrected. Any city which has reason to believe that a considerable number of its residents have been overlooked is advised by the bureau to get in touch with its local supervisor without delay before his office has been closed. The burden of proof is on the city to show that the enumeration has not been accurate.

Other Large Cities' Figures.

Cities of more than 200,000 whose population has thus far been announced, in addition to St. Louis, are as follows: Milwaukee, 457,147; gain, 22.36 per cent; Washington, 437,414; gain, 32.16; Cincinnati, 401,-158; gain, 10.36; Minneapolis, 380,-498; gain, 26.26; Toledo, 243,109; gain, 44.36; Louisville, 234,891; gain, 4.96; St. Paul, 234,595; gain, 9.26.

Compilation of estimates of the population of Boston and St. Louis as of Jan. 1, last, by the method of arithmetical progression brought the total number of their inhabitants within 777 of each other, with St. Louis leading. These estimates, based on the assumption that the increase each year since 1910 has been equal to the annual increase from 1900 to 1910, gave St. Louis 796,933 and Boston 796,156. In the 1910 census Boston showed an increase of 19.6 per cent for the decade, while St. Louis showed an increase of 19.4 per cent.

FORMAL NOTE EXPECTED TO END RUHR DIFFICULTY

France Said to Recognize Opposition to Occupation Was Based on Principle, Not Situation.

GERMANS TO TAKE TROOPS FROM RUHR

Chancellor Mueller Says Military Action Is Near Close —Negotiations for Extension of Time Under Way.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 13.—Verbal assurances given by the French Government in answering the sixth note of Great Britain relative to the occupation of German cities by the French were discussed by the Cabinet council yesterday. They are expected to be followed by a formal note which will mean a satisfactory solution of the difficulty.

France is said to recognize that opposition to its action was based rather upon the maintenance of an important principle than upon the merits of the immediate question involved.

Mueller Says Military Action in Ruhr Basin Is Near End.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 13.—"Miltary action in the Ruhr basin is about to come to an end," said Chancellor Mueller in the course of a declaration before the National Assembly today. "All troops not indispensible will be withdrawn. Negotiations are going on with the allies for a three-months' extension of the convention of August, 1919. The occupation of the main cities will end shortly."

The National Assembly reopened yesterday with Lord Kilmarnock, the British Charge d'Affaires and other diplomatic representatives present. The proceedings began with a strong protest from President Fehrenbach against the allied commission in preventing the Upper Silesian deputies from attending the Assembly. Herr Fehrenbach denounced the entente for this "encroachment on the rights of the German people's representativs."

Premier Criticizes French.

The Premier spoke strongly against the action of the French in the Rhine region, saying "Senegaleze are quartered in Frankfort and are guarding Goethe's house." Then reviewing the events in the Ruhr section, he said that in the confusion following the Kapp uprising the Ruhr workers were unable to recognize whether they were faced by loyal or disloyal troops.

"This atmosphere of district," he added, "was exploited by Communist wire pullers, and instead of an impressive workers' movement there gradually came into existence a 'red' army.

"The organized workers," Herr Mueller said, "returned to the mines and factories, but the deluded champions of Soviet dictatorship remained in arms and were joined by the rabble of the Ruhr area, whose only desire was to exploit lawlessness. This was the situation when the German Government gave permission to the troops to march into the neutral zone, where almost the entire population was crying for relief from terrorism."

157 Killed, 340 Wounded.

"Where military protection was not requested none was sent. The casualty list showed how severe was the task of the Reichswehr. Fifteen officers and 142 men of the ranks were killed and six officers and 93 men of the ranks are missing, while 19 officers and 321 men of the ranks were wounded.

"These sacrifices ought to protect the Reichswehr from the insults which were hurled at them.

"The French action was a disgrace to all sense of justice and human feeling, to which even the vanquished are entitled. The appeals for help from the Ruhr were so insistent that the Government's only alternative was to render aid or resign. The decision was in no wise influenced by the desires of the military circles. Longer hesitation would have imperiled the existence of the republic.

"In protecting a population of 5,000,000 from robbery and worse. We were not guilty of any hostile act against the signatory powers. We did not disturb the peace of the world but showed a loftier and more rational loyalty to the treaty.

Charge France With Breaking Treaty.

"We raise against France the accusation that she has broken the Versailles treaty and discredited the League of Nations before it has come into operation. She acted without the sanction of the other signatories, without any justification and in direct contradiction to the final protocol of last December, which expressly assures that the consequences of any breach of the treaty are only to be expiated in accordance with the general prescriptions of the treaty or of international law."

The Premier contended that France's actions were not in accordance with the prescriptions of law. He repudiated the assertion that German militarists were behind the Ruhr trouble and maintained that France was unable to escape the domination of her own Generals.

Referring to the British Premier's disapproval of France's action, Herr Mueller declared that it would be childish to imagine that the termination of the Entente was foreshadowed by it. He said the Deputies need only to remember the recent shipping negotiations "in which neither France nor Great Britain showed the slightest sympathy for Germany's vital interests."

President Not to Go to Massachusetts for Summer

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—President Wilson will not establish the summer white house at Wood's Hole, Mass., as had been expected, but probably will select some other place where more acommodations are available for the large staff of secretaries and attaches.

It became known yesterday that the announcement that the President had selected the estate of Charles R. Crane, Minister to China, for his summer home, was premature. The President had accepted Crane's offer of a lease on the property but it had not been inspected by the Secret Service operatives and White House attaches, who always manage the household surroundings of the President and his family.

When the White House advance agents inspected the grounds it is said they came to the conclusion that the Crane estate itself was not large enough and that the accommodations to be found in the village were insufficient for the force from the executive offices which would have to be moved to Wood's Hole for the summer.

It also developed that the Crane mansion is close to a railway track, where many trains pass day and night; that there are several automatic fog signals in the waters of Long Island Sound, close to shore, and that the layout of the Crane grounds in relation to the public streets and sidewalks of Wood's Hole were such that the Secret Service men advanced what they termed practical obstacles of their regular plans for guarding the President.

When these considerations were laid before the President it was said he reluctantly abandoned his plan to go to Wood's Hole and was regretful that Crane's offer had been accepted before all the physical considerations which the aides feel are important, were investigated.

It has not been decided where the President will go in view of changed plans, but several offers are before him. The White House executive forces wan to choose a place where the physical arrangements are as much the same as here in Washington as may be possible.

The President did not go driving yesterday but spent his time on the White House portico, on the south lawn and in his study. His drive about the Capital Sunday served to quiet peristent rumors that he had suffered a setback. Rear Admiral Grayson reiterated that the President was in better condition than he has been at any time since he returned ill from his speaking trip last October.

PRESIDENT CALLS CABINET MEETING TO DISCUSS STRIKE

railroad managers announced today that they are able to handle all traffic offered.

The East continued to be the strike center today. At Baltimore, Scranton, Philadelphia, Washington and Steubenville, O., the ranks of the strikers were increased overnight. At Detroit 100,000 factory employes were idle today through the shut down of factories, unable to obtain power and fuel.

John Grunau, president of the Chicago Yardmen's Association, was still officiating today, despite reports of the Department of Justice that he had been deposed.

Grunau presided at the meeting of the "outlaw" union this morning.

As epitomized by the brotherhood leaders today the entire situation was:

West—Much better.

East—Much worse, particularly New York.

From the Ohio River west to the coast, the brotherhood leaders said, the strike was "burning out."

GAINS MADE BY RAILWAY STRIKERS IN NEW YORK CITY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 13.—New York was still in the grip of the outlaw railway strike today and there were no surface indications of a general break in the ranks of the strikers.

While gains were made by the strikers yesterday, notably in stopping the suburban service of the Central Railway of New Jersey, which had been unaffected previously, food trains reached the city in such number as to relieve the anxieties of health officials. The milk trains were not interfered with to any marked extent and it was stated that the city has a supply on hand for 48 hours, not taking into consideration today's expected shipments.

The New York Central road, despite a number of small strikes, succeeded in maintaining virtually its normal passenger service. The road also moved coasiderable freight. All other lines entering the city continued crippled. The Pennsylvania road's suburban service was about 50 per cent of normal this morning.

Nearly All Ohio Soft Coal Mines Are Closed Down.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—Soft coal mines in Ohio were nearly all closed down today because of the railroad strike and thousands of coal miners were thrown out of work.

Chicago & Alton Switchmen at Bloomington to Return.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., April 13.—Chicago & Alton switchmen, at a meeting today, unanimously voted to return to work at 7 a. m. Wednesday. One hundred men were out.

500 at Terre Haute Vote Unanimously to Quit Work.

By the Associated Press.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 13.—Five hundred representatives of local yardmen and switchmen's unions last night voted unanimously to quit work. They declared they were not striking, but were quitting and would do no further work until higher wages were offered.

Trainmen on Pennsylvania Lines Vote Not to Strike.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 13.—Members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen on the Pennsylvania Railroad east and west of Pittsburg voted this morning against joining the strike of yardmen. An official announcement said the vote was "practically unanimous."

Burlington Switchmen at Hannibal Join Strike.

By the Associated Press.

QUINCY, Ill., April 13.—Burlington switchmen struck at midnight in Hannibal, and telephone advices from that city this morning said that the Wabash and "Katy" yard force would follow suit today. Most of the men on the night shift went out. Some 70 men are employed in the Hannibal yards.

100,000 Men Out of Work in Ohio Because of Railroad Strike.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—More than 100,000 men were out of work in Ohio today as a result of the unauthorized railroad strike, and practically no freight was being moved. Except in the Youngstown district, passenger trains were moving as usual.

Approximately 50,000 soft-coal miners in the Ohio fields have been laid off because of the inability of the operators to obtain cars.

The big steel plants near Youngstown were reported closed down, with approximately 30,000 men thrown out of work.

The Overland Automobile Co. at Toledo reported that it would close late today, throwing 14,000 persons out of work.

Public utilities all over the State were appealing for coal, and most of them declared that unless an immediate supply of coal is forthcoming they must suspend operations.

B. & O. Places Embargo on Freight East of Ohio River.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, April 13.—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad today placed an embargo on the acceptance of any freight on its lines east of the Ohio River except "essential food necessities for human consumption which can only be handled after special advance arrangements have been made."

The action was taken "because of labor troubles," the announcement stated.

situation, but deferred voting until today, Bannon said. Officials of the yardmen's association said a majority of the men at the meeting were in favor of remaining out.

James S. Eubank, president of the Yardmen's Association, predicted yesterday afternoon that the yardmen would be back at work not later than Wednesday, "with a complete victory."

Official of Yardmen's Association in Statement Declares Loyalty.

Matthew Lillig, of 3619 North Ninth street, vice president of the Yardmen's Association of St. Louis, formerly a Wabash switchman, issued this statement today:

"The Yardmen's Association of St. Louis has nothing to do with the I. W. W., nor is it Socialistic. It bans religion and politics. It is distinctly an American organization, recognizing only the Stars and Stripes and acknowledging allegiance to no other country. Its qualification is American citizenship and its emblem is the flag.

"We are not seeking to conspire against our form of government or to interfere with interstate commerce or the United States mails.

"To our sorrow and regret we have found it necessary to quit our jobs and withdraw from the service. We are not on strike and absolutely are not a revolutionary body. We are seeking to bargain for collective justice. We ask only for an economic scale of wages. We are not indifferent to the rights of the public. We in no sense wish to contribute to the inconvenience or discomfort of the public. We are not hostile to business. We favor business, big and little.

"We are decidedly in favor of private management, operation and control of railroads. We have no hard feelings toward the managers of the railroads. We esteem and respect them as gentlemen.

"If the various former labor organizations can find it possible to secure a sufficient number of men, or any number of men to fill the jobs made vacant by our resignations, they have our hearty good will.

"The statement by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, that Congress is to blame for this uprising is a decided error. He is mistaken. Mr. Gompers, to my pain and sorrow, has repeatedly and conclusively proven himself a laborite politician and is in no sense a leader of organized labor.

"We harbor no such contemptuous feelings as he harbors for the Congress of the United States. We are not politicians. We are workers seeking social justice.

"With reference to William G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, an organization now defunct. I wish to say this: Not only as vice president of this association, but as an American citizen, proud of my country, I say we are disgusted to the point of loathing at the repeated insane tactics of President Lee in using the big club in seeking to intimidate the power intrusted in Congress.

"We are not holding any brief against Congress. We are expected to obey its laws and are not seeking to use Congress to carry out personal or questionable motives.

"We ask the public to bear with us and be patient. We feel the justice of our cause and I feel that time will bring forth the fact that the railroads of this country will be willing to deal with this organization as a reliable body of men, when they realize that the old railroad labor organizations are defunct."

Few Scattered Coal Mines Working in Illinois.

Most of the coal mines in the fields adjacent to St. Louis continue closed down on account of the strike of switchmen and yardmen. The few cars that are being distributed suffice only to keep a few scattering mines at work, according to P. H. Greenlaw, secretary of the Fifth and Ninth Operators' Association.

President Frank Farrington of the United Mine Workers of Illinois says that practically half of the mines of the State are closed down and that about 45,000 miners are idle.

NEWSPAPER SOLE JUDGE OF MATERIAL AS NEWS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 13.—The right of a newspaper to publish what it considers news and to disregard whatever it believes does not come within that category was upheld yesterday in an opinion of the Appellate Court, disposing of a $100,000 damage suit by William Reeda, an attorney, against the Tribune company.

Reeda, who was a candidate for Superior Court Judge in the November, 1917, election on an independent ticket, charged the Chicago Tribune with publishing a facsimile of a portion of a specimen ballot, giving the names of the Democratic, Republican and Socialist candidates for the judgeship, but omitting the names of the independent candidates. It was contended by Reeda that this omission was "willful and malicious and done with intent to injure his candidacy."

"The defendant owed no duty to either the plaintiff or the public to publish anything which for any reason it did not see fit to publish," the opinion read. "The defendant is the sole judge of the value of news as such. A newspaper must remain free to publish such matters as it regards as possessing news value and to refrain from publishing such matters as it may determine does not possess news value."

GEN. WOOD CANCELS LEAVE AND ENDS CAMPAIGN TOUR

Will Return to Chicago and Resume Command of Central Department, Due to Railroad Strike.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, April 13.—Major-General Leonard Wood today canceled the leave of absence which he obtained to make a campaign for the Republican nomination for President, and said he would leave later in the day for Chicago to resume his duties as Commanding General of the Central Department. He stated that his action was due to railroad strike conditions.

Gen. Wood made the announcement at a breakfast tendered him at the Boston City Club. He said:

"The situatof of growing seriousness in the countr is such that I feel it is my duty to give up my leave and to return to my post of command in Chicago. The situation is not one which allows personal considerations to enter into the matter in the least."

It was the intention of Gen. Wood to speak in several places in Massachusetts, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Delaware and Pennsylvania within the next week. He canceled all these engagements.

ganizations to pay the expenses of the movement to date, including the surveys and the campaign. And the far greater part of it, it is hoped, will be used by the denominations in some co-operative enterprise, seeking to enter the unoccupied fields of the world."

Gov. Milliken's Talk.

Gov. Milliken, at the City Club luncheon, spoke on the relation of religious and moral forces to stability of the Government. He urged business men, whatever their attitude toward the church had been, to support the present movement for "marshalling the forces of the church in business-like fashion and in efficient form, for the future of our country and the security of every man's life and property."

About 250 ministers and laymen attended the regional conference at the Planters Hotel, beginning at 10:30 a. m., at which the Rev. H. H. Bruner, pastor of Hamilton Avenue Christian Church, presided. The devotional service was led by the Rev. W. P. Foreman of Louisiana, Mo. Rockefeller gave a greeting. The principal address was made by the Rev. Dr. William Hiram Foulkes of New York. James M. Speers, a business man of New York; the Rev. William Fifield of Kansas City and the Rev. James Hardin Smith of North Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, spoke.

Dr. S. Earle Taylor, general secretary of the Interchurch World Movement, gave out a statement denying reports that "repressive campaigns against various industrial groups" were contemplated by the industrial relations department of the movement. He said the aim of the movement, in its industrial relations department, was justice for employer, employe and the public, and the arousing of the Christian conscience of the nation to bring about a rule of justice.

Baptist Dinner This Afternon.

Baptist ministers and laymen will hold a dinner at the Planters at 6:30 p. m., to be addressed by Gov. Milliken and Dr. John Y. Aitchison, director of the general board of promotion of the Northern Baptist Conference.

Other members of the party are Dr. Abram E. Cory, director of the field department of the Interchurch World Movement; George Innes of Philadelphia, representing the United Presbyterian Church; J. Elwood Cox of High Point, N. C., representing the Society of Friends; James W. Speers, who was chairman of the Billy Sunday Campaign Committee in New York; Dr. Ralph Ward, a Methodist Episcopal missionary recently returned from China; Dr. William A. Brown, recently returned from Pekin, China; Daniel Baker of Baltimore, a business man; Charles L. White of New York, executive secretary of the American Baptist Home Mission Society; Dr. Wilton Merle Smith, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church of New York; the Rev. Henry Fry of New York, a former chaplain in the United States Navy; Lawrence Rich, who staged "The Wayfarer" at Madison Square Garden, and A. G. Fegert, representing the publicity department of the Interchurch World Movement.

More Economical Than Miners.

Rockefeller, when seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Jefferson soon after his arrival, said his work in the present tour was in line with the interest which he had taken in religious work. He said the business men in the party were paying their own expenses, and that the expenses of the ministers and other members were being met by a group of business men, which included his father and himself. The party is traveling in regular sleeping cars, and not in a private car. The ministers receive no pay for their work on the tour, and are loaned by their churches or church boards.

In speaking of wage conditions, Rockefeller said:

"I wouldn't undertake to say what the proper wages for any class of workers should be. It is, in part, a question of living requirements. I could live more economically than some wage-earners do. For instance, in a coal-mining town in Pennsylvania, the miners send to the city every few months for a tailor to come and measure them for suits. Now I don't think it necessary to have my clothes tailor-made. I wear ready-made suits quite as often, and my five boys wear ready-made clothing altogether. It happens that the suit I have on naw was made by a tailor, but I am wearing a ready-made overcoat."

High Wage Seekers "Profiteers."

Rockefeller said the future of the country depended on a lessening of extravagance and of selfishness, and on "less thought about getting a larger wage, salary or profit, and more thought about rendering a service commensurate with that which we are getting. "The man who seeks to secure more pay and at the same time render less service," he declared, "is just as great a profiteer as the man who charges an excessive price for the article he sells. The high cost of living will be reduced only as the American people render honest, conscientious, whole- hearted service."

He said he always had tried to keep in touch with the men in his employment, and that when, because of the size of industrial establishments, this was not possible, he expected directors and officials of plants to know their men. He declared that more religion, with the spirit of brotherhood, would make possible a better understanding between workers and employers.

A prayer meeting was held in Rockefeller's room at the Jefferson by the members of the party, before starting out for the day's work. Dr. Cory conducted the meeting. As there were not enough chairs for all, Rockefeller sat on the floor.

Churches Want $336,777,572 to Improve Conditions.

The tour of the Rockefeller party, and of subsidiary traveling groups who are visiting the smaller cities —such a group was in East St. Louis yesterday—is a preliminary to the financial solicitation to be undertaken in the week beginning April 25, for the Interchurch World Movement. The amount which it will be sought to raise, through the 30 co-operating denominations, is $336,777,572. It is desired that about one-half of this sum be paid this year.

The combined membership of the co-operating denominations, as shown by church membership rolls, is 14,939,413.

Each denomination, it is announced, will receive all the money it raises. It is a drive by Presbyterians for Presbyterian money, by Methodists for Methodist money, by Baptists for Baptist money, but all under the auspices of the Interchurch Movement, and all simultaneously.

The money will be expended by the different denominations, according to the plan, without duplication, or overlapping, to improve religious and social conditions in this country and foreign countries.

CENSUS IS DECLARED TO SHOW NEED OF ANNEXATION

be considered a healthful community indication, and should show all St. Louisans that now is the time to start in earnest a greater St. Louis movement that will enable us in another census to claim our real place among American cities, for I fear the 1920 figures will lose us fourth place beyond a doubt."

Comment of Supervisor.

Supervisor of Census Burke said: "The population figures for St. Louis, as reported announced by the bureau at Washington this morning are substantially correct. Every proper agency was used to get a full count for the city; publicity was resorted to, and the aid and assistance of public-spirited civic organizations was sought and obtained.

"The result was we got a full count within the city's limits.

"I trust that one result of the 1920 census of St. Louis will be to rivet public attention on St. Louis' boundary limitations with a view to correcting them by proper legal procedure to the end that St. Louis may come into her own in the fullest."

Plea for Annexation.

"The city must go forward and expand," was the comment of Samuel Rosenfeld, president of the Million Population Club. "These figures ought to make every St. Louisan an active worker for annexation of certain territory in the county that is rightfully a part of this city's population. Detroit has expanded 41 square miles in the last 10 years. Boston and Cleveland have expanded. St. Louis limits have remained unchanged since 1876.

"There are two choices open to us. Either the city must go back into the county or must annex the entire county. There are at least 85,000 people on the fringes of St. Louis that should be reckoned in our population. If they could be, the population figure announced today would be 858,000, which is about what we are entitled to."

The increase of 85,971 in the population of St. Louih between 1910 and 1920 is the smallest numerical growth in any 10 years since 1880 and is the smallest percentage of growth in any decade in the history of the city.

Population Figures Since 1820.

Following are the population counts since the first made by the Federal Census:

1830	4,977
1840	16,469
1850	77,860
1860	160,773
1870	310,864
1880	350,522
1890	451,770
1900	575,238
1910	687,029

Detroit must show a gain of 44.5 per cent in population to pass St. Louis in the population standings of American cities. Its population in 1910, when it was the ninth city, was 465,766, which was a growth of 63 per cent over 1900.

Cleveland must show a gain of 37.8 per cent to pass St. Louis. Its population in 1910, when it was the sixth city, was 560,663, which was a growth of 46.9 per cent over 1900.

Boston must show a gain of 15.2 per cent to pass St. Louis. Its population in 1910, when it was the fifth city, was 670,585, which was a growth of 19.6 per cent since 1910.

The 1910 population of St. Louis, 687,029, represented a growth of 19.4 per cent over 1900. This decade included the World's Fair period. St. Louis was the fourth city in both 1910 and 1900. The three cities above named now are regarded as pressing contenders for this city's fourth position. There is no apparent expectation that any of the cities will press Philadelphia for third place.

No Territory Added.

When population figures for the towns and townships of St. Louis County are available, it will be known exactly how much St. Louis might have increased its population by adding adjacent parts of St. Louis County, or by a union with the whole county, forming a greater city under the borough system. St. Louis has not added one square inch to its area for 44 years. Detroit, Cleveland and Boston have all added territory.

Attempts have been made, in the two last State Legislatures, to obtain enabling legislation which would make it possible for St. Louis to expand its boundaries. Both attempts were defeated by the opposition of some residents of the county, and the indifference of city members of the Legislature, and of the general public.

Within the last few weeks, the movement for reunion with the county, with which the city was united politically until 1876, has been revived. It is recognized that the problems involved will take several years for their proper working out, and it is desired to have a plan ready to present to the Legislature which will be elected this fall, and which meets next January.

At a meeting in the Mayor's office, March 24, a resolution was adopted asking the St. Louis County Court to apoint a committee of county residents, and it was decided to ask the City Counselor of St. Louis and the Prosecuting Attorney of the county, as legal adviser of the County Court, to confer on the legal questions involved.

Recount Was Made.

The taking of the census in St. Louis was begun on Jan. 2 with 598 enumerators working under Supervisor Burke and 16 inspectors. The last population schedule was sent to Washington on March 25 and the Census office here was closed on March 31.

When the enumerators had completed their count, the Chamber of Commerce and the Advertising and Million Population clubs began a search for persons missed. Newspapers published blanks, which filled out by persons who believed that they had been missed, was followed by a check of the census books. The police engaged in a house-to-house canvas reporting the names of several thousand persons who thought that they had not been counted. Supervisor Burke issued appeals from time to time for every person who thought he had not been counted to report his belief. The books, Burke said, were not closed until every report of persons missed had been investigated.

This Week We Feature These 100-Piece

"Liberty" Dinner Sets

$26.75

$2.50 CASH
50¢ A WEEK

Here Is a Design That Is Entirely New

IT is called the "Liberty" Dinner Set because the decoration on each piece is a beautiful reproduction of the Statue of Liberty. Encircling this decoration is a dainty floral wreath. The shape of the various pieces is the celebrated "Martha Washington" design copied from a Colonial set, the original of which may still be seen at Washington's home at Mt. Vernon. Adding greatly to the effectiveness of the design is a border of English cobalt blue with an inner line of delicate tracery.

12 7-inch Plates.
12 8-inch Plates.
12 4-inch Plates.
12 Cups.
12 Saucers.
12 Coup Soups.
12 Butters.
1 Medium Platter.
1 Large Platter.
1 Cream Pitcher.
1 Sugar Bowl and Cover.
1 Large Vegetable Dish.
1 Medium Vegetable Dish.
1 Covered Dish.
1 Pickle Dish.
1 Butter Plate.
1 8-inch Bread Plate.
1 Olive Dish.
1 Preserve Dish.
1 3-inch Gravy Bowl.
1 Cheese Plate.

Fine White Ware

This set is the product of one of America's foremost potteries. The pieces are light in weight and are triple-fired to the temperature of 2200 degrees, insuring a beautiful and lasting glaze. Each piece is full size and of first quality.

"Liberty" Statuette Free With Each Set

2000 CHEMISTS ATTEND OPENING OF CONVENTION

'ARE ALIVE TO NEW RESPONSIBILITIES'

Congress Is Providing Safeguards for Science, He Says—Turn From War to Peace Construction.

The spring meeting of the American Chemical Society was opened today, in Hotel Statler. General and group sessions will continue for four days. Registration indicates the attendance of about 2000 of a membership of 15,000 among laboratory, industrial and instructor chemists in the 53 sections of the society scattered about the United States.

This, the fifty-eighth meeting of the society, has been described as celebration of the war-born chemical independence of the United States, and in sounding the keynote at th opening session, Dr. Charles Holmes Herty of New York, former president of the society, declared the responsibility of the chemist to serve the nation and humanity in general with the same zeal which lifted him high in public esteem during the war.

"The war thrust upon the chemist the task of supplying quickly the means of offense and defense in gas warfare," he said. "The task was met. The best of gas masks, the most powrful of deadly gases and in enormous quantities were made available for our armies. Other tasks were placed upon us. The enforced cessation of imports from Germany showed that economically we had become dependent upon that nation. Our textile mills faced shutdown for lack of dyes. A dye industry here was built with an amazing swiftness that will always bear testimony to the genius of the American chemist. Synthetic medical supplies were exhausted. The manufacture of these products now is firmly established. Optical glasses were lacking for gun sights, range finders and field glasses. The research chemist solved the problem of manufacture. The very laboratories in which this was done were handicapped by lack of chemical porcelains. Today we need no outside help to equip our laboratories.

"However great the victory of the chemist over material things, his greater victory was over the indifference of his fellow beings. Five years ago the chemist was little thought of and rarely understood by the man on the street. Today the chemist is acclaimed on all sides.

Taken Public Into Confidence.

"On the other hand, the chemist has cast aside his old secretiveness and has taken the public into his confidence. He has told his story in language which can be understood by all. The result has been an increased demand for chemists, greater financial reward and a tremendous increase in the number of young men studying in universities. Perhaps the most striking result, however, is the attitude of Congress. It seems determined to safeguard our new industry, to make permanent the Division of Chemical Warfare of the national defense and to protect in other ways our new chemical growth.

"Thus, the chemist has come into new responsibilities. We cannot be content with the accomplishment of the past. The same resistless energy which perfected the destructive agents of war can work miracles when devoted with the same intensity to the needs of humanity in peace. Let us continue to strive, and, striving, to continue the good work of popular understanding of the problems upon which we are engaged."

Dr. W. A. Noyes, president of the society, responded to an address of welcome. A smoker for men attendants at the convention will be held tonight in the Liederkranz Club, 2426 South Grand avenue, while a theater party for women will be held.

O. H. Pierce, assistant professor of chemistry in Washington University, described the chemical resources of the St. Louis district at the afternoon session. He described the St. Louis district to include Missouri, Southern Illinois, Western Kentucky and Tennessee, Northern Arkansas, Eastern Oklahoma and Eastern Kansas and said that it virtually is self-supporting in chemical industry. "The district takes a leading part in producing petroleum, lead and zinc," he said "and is virtually the sole contributor in aluminum ore."

Group Meetings Tomorrow.

Group meetings of the divisions of agricultural and food chemistry, pharmaceutics, sugar, biology, rubber, dye, industrial chemistry, organic chemistry, water, sewerage and sanitation, leather, physical and inorganic chemistry and a special order, a colloid symposium, have places on the program beginning tomorrow.

A public meeting of the society will be held in the auditorium of Central High School tomorrow at 8 p. m. Col. Amos A. Fries, director of the chemical Warfare service of the United States army, will illustrate a talk on "Chemical Warfare" with lantern slides and motion pictures of chemical warfare during the recent war.

Junior Leaguers in First Dress Rehearsal of 'Follies'

Performances at Odeon, Lasting Five Hours, Presage Colorful Show Late in Week—Specialties to Mark Program.

Promise of one of the most colorful and meritorious amateur performances of the season was given last night when members of the younger social set worked for more than five hours at the Odeon at a dress rehearsal of the Junior League Follies which will be produced there next Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee for charity.

It was 7:15 when Dinnie MacDonald, the white-haired but youthful spirited professional director, called for stage lights and got the cast together, and it was after midnight when the rehearsal was over.

One distinctive feature of this show is that it will have no plot as Prescott Bush is careful to announce in the deep-toned and sonorous prologue. Also there will be no stars. In the accepted sense there is no cast of characters and the catch line of the entire performance will be "a little of this and a little of that" in quick-moving succession. Choral and massed effects will be the predominating features. The songs will be tuneful and easy-flowing and there will be many drills, marches and dances, with everybody in the chorus and nobody monopolizing the spotlight.

Women in Costume.

It had been intended to have the dress rehearsals tomorrow night and Thursday night, but other engagements of the Odeon interfered and it was necessary to set the time forward.

Most of the young women were in costume last night, but a few, including Mrs. August A. Busch Jr. and Mrs. Stuart Stickney, were in street dress.

Judging by last night's showing the Fan Girls should be one of the hits of the Follies. They wear gorgeous gowns and carry large and rythmically swaying fans. In this group are May Foster, Mrs. Eugene Williams, Mrs. Ann Collins Taussig, Mrs. Harrison Hoblitzelle, Ellen Lee Hofman, Miriam Benoist, Mrs. Robert Bagnell, Isabel Moran, Hannah Jane Foley, Eva Cotter, Mrs. Elmore Bostwick, Mrs. Harry Potter, Carolyn Tyler, Marion Franciscus and Mrs. Charles Bascom.

Dance Scene Effective.

Equally colorful and effective is the Silver Scarf Dance, in which the stage is filled with light and color by Elizabeth Holliday, Mrs. Humphrey Gifford, Roberta Lewis, Elizabeth Moran, Frances Jones, Doris Drummond, Grace Taylor, Cornelia McNair, Jane Goddard, Elizabeth Kennard, Evelyn Guy, Elizabeth Benoist, Effie Bagnell, Mrs. Dan Jones, Leonore Cahill, Edith Skipwith, Julia Tyler, Ada Jones, Lucy Ludington, Vesta Reid, Elizabeth Smith and Catherine Terrill.

The men's chorus has a lot to do throughout the performance. In the opening scene laid in Paris, there are student waiters, artists, guides and gendarmes. There also are fierce-visaged gypsies and Chinese coolies in other scenes.

The chorus men include Marion Niedringhaus, Francis Niedringhaus, August A. Busch Jr., F. Dayton Canfield, Richard Upshaw, Fred Gardner, James Bergs, Don Lambert, Geoffry Kimball, Field Goltra, Sam Conant, Frank Truxell, Barney Maloy, Kennard Brookmire, Frank Hamilton, Lester Faust and Neil O'Day.

The show was not rehearsed in its regular order last night, but various groupings and specialties were tried out at random and repeated until their performance satisfied the director.

Opening Chorus.

The opening chorus will be led by Miss Anna L. Warmack, with the aid of Mrs. Humphrey Gifford, Miss Grace Taylor, Virgil Lewis, Clarence King, C. A. Niekamp and Ray Miller.

A fetching scene in this act permits Miss Leonore Cahill to flirt with a chorus of 30 young men while singing "One Little Boy." In "Scenes on Broadway" there are impersonations of Ina Clare, Frances White and Ann Pennington by Mrs. Harry Potter, Mrs. Dan Jones and Elizabeth Edgar.

Frances Reid Jones and Don Lambert have a clever eccentric dance turn which is sure to be a hit. The motive of the dance is Lambert's effort to read a paper over Miss Jones' shoulder and her efforts to elude him carry her all over the stage with the intruder in close pursuit. It is a novel dancing number very well done.

"Pretty Little Baby," sung by George O'Neill and Marion Niedringhaus, has the vocal and picture support of the entire feminine chorus.

Chinese Pantomime.

A feature of the second act is a Chinese pantomime in which the characters are Ellen Lee Hoffman, Mrs. Dan Jones, William McCandless and Winston Johns. This soon drops its pantomime character and the chorus is revealed in Chinese costumes. The choral numbers in turn lead to the presentation of a pretty little specialty in which Mrs. C. R. D. Meier sings while Mrs. Virgil Lewis poses as a Chinese slave girl.

While the stage is being set for the succeeding Gypsy scene Ray Miller, imitating the style of Eddie Cantor, gives a rapid-fire rendition of "Don't Put a Tax on the Beautiful Girls" and Andrew Duncan sings a "rose song."

Song and Dance Features.

In the Gypsy scene, one of the most colorful episodes of the second act, there is an opening song by Prescott Bush. Richard Upshaw calls for full choral accompaniment and the special aid of Lucy Ludington and Ada Johnson in presenting a most tuneful number called "The Gypsy Rag." In this act also there is a Persian scene in which Annie Laurie Warmack and Cornelia McNair do a scarf dance. There also is a charming duet dance by Mrs. August A. Busch Jr. and Mrs. Stuart Stickney and there is a marionette dance by Miss Ludington and Miss Johnson. Director MacDonald and Leonore Cahill have the stage to themselves with a gypsy dance in this act.

In the third act the men's chorus has a chance to shine undimmed by feminine competition in a very funny burlesque on grand opera singing and classic dancing. The absence of the young women during this interval is easily explained by the fact that they are putting themselves in readiness for the grand climax which will be a fashion review with fashionable maids and young matrons of St. Louis wearing fashionable gowns in the fashionable way. The fashion review was not rehearsed last night.

U. S. SERGEANT SOLD ONLY CERTAIN PARIS SUBWAY RIGHTS

Same Man Denied Selling Seine Bridge—Gen. Harts Gives Further Details of Experiences.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Continuing his defense of his administration of the Paris district, Gen. Harts told a House Investigating Committee today that charges of cruelty at the military prisons might have been exaggerated by men "endeavoring to exculpate themselves." Prisoners were never satisfied and always distorted the truth, he said.

Questioned by Chairman Johnson of South Dakota concerning the reported sale of "rights in the Paris subway" to Frenchmen by a Sergeant Bender, Gen. Harts said he personally investigated the report. Bender, he said, denied a sale of one of the bridges over the Seine River, but frankly admitted that "certain rights to the subway had been sold because it was necessary to raise money."

Thirty cases of desertion in face of the enemy occurred in the Twenty-seventh (New York) National Guard division, the General said, in explaining that many men in Paris were skulkers who didn't want to remain with their divisions at the front.

METHODISTS LIFT DANCING BAN

Reference to Theaters and Cards Eliminated by New York Church.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KINGSTON, N. Y., April 13.—After the liveliest discussion of the 1920 sessions of the New York Methodist Conference here a motion to strike out specific reference to dancing, theaters and card games in the church discipline was adopted yesterday with only two or three dissenting votes.

The Rev. Dr. Hatsock, who made the motion, explained he was not seeking to lower the standard of church, but to strike out something that was unwisely interjected in 1872 and that was not enforced.

GERMANS KILL AMERICAN TRYING TO ESCAPE ARREST

Paul Roome Demott, Newspaper Man, Was Charged With Fighting With Red Army.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 13.—An official announcement made last night in the case of Paul Roome Demott, of Paterson, N. J., said to have been an American citizen killed recently at Wesel, near the Ruhr region, states that he was shot dead while attempting to escape from military arrest.

Demott, 22 years old, was taken prisoner by Government troops near Dinslaken, southeast of Wesel, early last week charged with being in possession of arms and aiding in the rebellioin. He was caught with members of the red army, according to the Government statement.

The whereabouts of Demott since his arrest had not been known here, although he was generally believed to be safe, despite the fact that he was reported sentenced to death by a military court. This belief was due to the Government's declaration that no death warrants would be issued unless approved by President Ebert.

Demott is said here to have claimed that he was a newspaper man who was given an American passport because he was engaged in relief work. Papers indicating he was about to leave for Russia were said to have been found in his possession.

ILLINOIS PRIMARY TODAY

Lowden and Wood Only Names on Republican Ballots.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 13.—Illinois voters cast their ballots today in the primary with Gov. Frank O. Lowden and Major-General Leonard Wood the only candidates entered for the Republican indorsement. The Democratic field was uncontested. The Illinois Democratic delegation will go to the San Francisco convention uninstructed.

Women voted in all but half a dozen counties with the provision that their ballots might be thrown out later if their participation was found to be illegal. Women's ballots will be counted separately.

Polls opened at 6 a. m. and will close at 5 p. m. Fair and cold weather was forecast for the State.

TRUNK MAKERS STRIKE TO 'END DISCRIMINATION'

Nearly 1000 Men and Women Walked Out of Seven St. Louis Factories at Close of Business Saturday.

Nearly 1000 trunk makers, about 20 per cent of whom are women, have been on strike since Saturday noon and the seven factories in St. Louis employing them have been shut down since then by agreement of owners. The strikers are members of the United Leather Workers' Union, Local No. 66, and the employers belong to the St. Louis Trunk Manufacturers' Association.

Edward E. Shilling of Chicago, general vice president of the international union, who is here to direct the strike, said today that the strike was called to enforce an agreement to do away with discrimination against union members. He said the union had waived its request for a closed shop, and had not insisted on recognition, the agreement suggested having made no specific mention of the union local.

There have been no nonunion workers in the trunk factories recently.

T. L. Horn, president of the manufacturers' association, said the strike was called to force recognition of the union. This will not be done and the shops will not be reopened in the absence of the regular employes, he said.

Text of Disputed Clause.

The agreement, which dealt with working conditions, as originally drawn up, provided that "there shall be no discrimination, but all shall be treated alike." This, he said, was changed by the St. Louis Trunk Manufacturers' Association to read: "There shall be no discrimination by either party to this agreement against any person employed by the manufacturers because of any employe belonging or not belonging to a labor union, and the manufacturers shall have the right to employ any person they see fit to employ whether such person is or is not a member of organized labor."

Agreed on Wages and Hours.

Horn said the average wage of trunkmakers here is about $38 a week. Shilling said the average weekly wage has been $25, ranging from $15 to $30 according to the individual's skill. The agreement which contained the objectionable clause, Shilling said, embodied an acceptable provision for a 15 per cent general increase for piece and hourly work and a reduction of the week from 50 to 48 hours.

The strikers are receiving a strike benefit of $7 a week each from the international union, Shilling said, and "will fight to a finish." He instructed the men to do no violence.

Police protection was asked this morning for several of the factories, although there has been no picketing.

The factories affected are the T. L. Horn Trunk Co., Eighth and Howard streets and 721 Cass avenue; P. C. Murphy Trunk Co., Thirteenth and Papin streets; Herkert and Meisel Trunk Co., Thirteenth and Chestnut streets, Fifteenth and Pine streets, and 910 Washington avenue; James A. Quirk Trunk Co., 915 Wash street; Ely & Walker trunk factory, 1408 North Sixteenth street; Stability Leather Goods Co., Fourth street and Chouteau avenue, and Union Sample Case Co., 1218 Olive street.

WASHINGTON'S ONLY FREIGHT IN 24 HOURS IS TWO CARS OF MEAT

Railroads Announce Embargo on All Incoming and Outgoing Freight.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—An embargo against all incoming and outgoing freight was placed today by the railroads entering Washington. The only freight received during the last 24 hours was two carloads of fresh meat.

The city's supply of perishable foodstuffs is estimated as sufficient to last for from seven to 10 days, while the supply of staple goods is sufficient for six months. Coal in storage here is reckoned by dealers at a 10 days' supply.

HEARING ON BUILDING SWITCHES

Manufacturers Propose No Locations for Connections.

The Board of Public Service today held a public hearing on the advisability of permitting manufacturers in the neighborhood of Second and Poplar streets to build switch connections with the Manufacturers' Railway on Second street and the Missouri Pacific tracks on the levee.

It was found that no definite locations had been fixed for these tracks and the board postponed the hearing until the railways and the manufacturers have worked out a proposed plan of switching tracks. About 35 property owners and manufacturers were at the hearing.

EX-KAISERIN VISITS NEW HOUSE

By the Associated Press.

AMERONGEN, April 13.—Former Empress Auguste Victoria made a trip to Doorn yesterday and inspected the new residence being built for herself and the former Kaiser. Although Auguste Victoria has been troubled with a heart ailment for many months, it is stated her condition is not considered immediately serious.

ONLY ONE MAN AT $1320 A YEAR LAID OFF BY TALBERT

In view of the present condition of the streets, a Post-Dispatch reporter today made inquiry to learn what progress had been made in the Department of Streets and Sewers toward carrying out the recommendations made Dec. 17 by Alonzo Barr, efficiency expert, who proposed changes which he said would result in a saving of $110,604 the first year they were in effect, and $204,104 on each succeeding year. Many of the changes included the laying off of men.

It was found that one man—a wharf inspector, at a salary of $1320 a year—had been laid off. In respect to many of the recommendations, Director of Streets and Sewers Talbert said that he does not intend to carry them out. He is unable to effect others, he said, and some, he said, are "in process" of being carried out.

A signal fact developed during the inquiry was that the proportion of foremen to laborers employed in the maintenance and repair of streets is more than one to four, there being 41 foremen to supervise the work of 162 laborers. The condition in the Street Cleaning Department is almost the same, there being 45 foremen for 187 laborers.

To Retain Foremen.

These foremen do not work. That, in fact, was one of the outstanding features of Barr's report. He recommended the employment of working foremen, which would make it possible to lay off a large number of men. Talbert and Street Commissioner Slater have flatly declined to do this.

Talbert and Slater said, in reply to questions, that the proper proportion of foremen and laborers should be one foreman to 10 laborers. Asked, then, if they were planning to lay off any of the surplus foremen, they declared that they were not. Both officials said that the city ordinances entitled them to that many foremen, and that they proposed to retain them. Director Talbert did say that if any quit he would not replace them, but he was not minded to go any further than that in reducing the number.

Specific Recommendations.

Among Barr's recommendations were that the force of laborers in the paving section be reduced by seven men, by the employment of working foremen; that the street maintenance and repair force be reduced 10 men by the employment of working foremen, and 43 men be laid off in other sections by the employment of working foremen. This reduction, he estimated, would save a total of $60,000 a year. Talbert said the working foremen system was "impracticable," and that the recommendations had not been carried out, and would not be.

Barr recommended that one photographer could do the work now performed by two photographers and one assistant. One of the photographers is employed in the Water Department; the other two men are in the Street Department. Director Talbert said the carrying out of this is "in process." The men are still working.

Barr recommended that $21,000 be appropriated for the purchase of three auto eductors, thus enabling the department to dispense with 40 laborers and seven teams, meaning a saving which he estimated at $29,500 for the first year and $50,500 for succeeding years. Talbert said that one eductor will be bought.

To Purchase Another Truck.

The purchase of a truck for the bituminous paving section, at a cost of $4500, would enable the section to dispense with all its teams, Barr said, at a saving of $8178 for the first year and $12,678 for each succeeding year. Talbert said it was planned to purchase another truck, but that teams can never be entirely dispensed with.

The discontinuance of the practice of keeping skilled workmen constantly on the payroll of the bridge maintenance section, at the hourly scale, was condemned by Barr as wasteful. He said the men should be hired when they are needed, and not otherwise, thus saving $4149 a year, on an average. Commissioner Slater said that the men are not idle more than 10 per cent of the time. Director Talbert plans, however, he said, to ask the skilled workmen to do other work at a lower scale of pay when they are not working at their trade.

Barr advocated the discontinuance of taking a traffic census of vehicles and pedestrians that cross the free bridge, which, he said, would result in saving $2933 a year. Director Talbert said the men who take the census are also watchmen, and are necessary. Besides, he added, he considers the census a valuable thing.

Will Retain Teams.

The purchase of eight trucks, for $36,000, for the street repair section, would make it possible to dispense with teams, and thus save $19,000 in each succeeding year, he said. Director Talbert said he proposed to buy one such truck, but would not dispense with teams.

Likewise, Barr advocated the purchase of 15 trucks for the macadam paving section, to replace all teams, at a saving which he estimated at $47,000 for each succeeding year. That, also, will not be done.

The dismissal of two wharf inspectors, at a saving of $2760 a year, was recommended, and one of them, that one getting $1320 a year, actually has been dismissed.

The total appropriation for the department last year was $2,490,000, of which the largest part goes for street maintenance, repair and cleaning. In the maintenance and repair department, the proportion is as follows: 63 per cent for wages, 17 per cent for teams and 20 per cent for material. In the cleaning section, it virtually all goes for wages.

FRENCHMEN ELECT 'FREE BEER' MAYOR, SET UP OWN RULE

Only One Prohibition Ballot Cast in Montmartre and Voter Had Flawless Alibi.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 13.—Montmartre, the light-hearted, is rejoicing in the possession of a separate Government, having repudiated all allegiance to all other administrations in France. The "free commune of Montmartre," as it calls itself, will continue, however, to pay taxes to France, being willing to meet even the higher rates to be voted soon by Parliament.

Invoking the principle of "self-determination of free peoples," Montmartre held an election on Sunday, as a result of which Jules de Paquit, a cartoonist of local renown, was elected Mayor. He received an overwhelming majority of the votes cast by the painters, sculptors and poets who form the predominant part of the population. His platform was termed "highly idealistic" and it certainly had the merit of brevity, being simply "Free beer."

There was only one prohibition vote cast in the election and a hurried search was made for the man said to have deposited that ballot. When found he produced a flawless alibi, being able to prove he had been asleep in the rear room of a cafe until after the polls had closed. The immediate arrest of the man who impersonated this guiltless citizen has been ordered by the new "Mayor."

Found Dead in Bed.

William E. Robison, 30 years old, of 5316A Vernon avenue, a salesman, was found dead in bed when his mother, Mrs. Catherine Robison, visited his room to see if he needed attention yesterday. The mother told the police Robison had recovered recently from double pneumonia and yesterday afternoon retired to his room to take a nap, telling his mother he felt tired.

20,000 IRISH DEMAND RELEASE OF PRISONERS

Crowd of Strikers Makes Threatening Demonstration at Dublin —Tanks on Duty.

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, April 13.—The general strike declared in Ireland in protest over treatment of political prisoners on a hunger strike in Mount Joy Prison here, went into effect today amid tumultuous scenes in the vicinity of the prison. The crowd which had assembled outside the prison grew as the day wore on until it comprised 20,000 persons, among whom threatening demonstrations occurred. Three tanks and several armored cars, with a large force of police and military, were stationed about the structure.

It was announced that the strike, which originally was intended as a one-day celebration, would continue until the prisoners were released.

All shops, public houses and restaurants of Dublin are closed and the hotels' staffs quit. No tram cars or trains are running, except a few on the Great Northern Ireland Railway. The Punchestown races have been postponed until tomorrow.

The strike is not in effect in Belfast and the North of Ireland. In Dublin and throughout the West and South of Ireland, however, business is at a standstill.

The vast crowd outside the prison this afternoon was offering prayers for the hunger strikers. Announcement of deaths among the hunger strikers have been expected by the people for the last 24 hours.

Dublin is tied up more effectively by the present strike than in the memorable anti-conscription strike in 1918. Even the postoffice service, with the exception of the telegraph department, is at a standstill, no letters being delivered.

IRISH PRISON HUNGER STRIKE BECOMING SERIOUS STRUGGLE

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, April 13.—The Mount Joy prison hunger strike has now assumed the dimensions of a struggle between the people and the authorities. The Government, however, cannot be moved from its refusal to enter into a compromise. Field Marshal Viscount French, the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, again declined to intervene yesterday, although the appeal was made by the Lord Mayor of the city.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Additional census figures announced today follow:

Watertown, N. Y., 31,263; increase 4533, or 17 per cent.

Galesburg, Ill., 23,785; increase 1696, or 7.7 per cent.

Charleston, W. Va., 39,608; increase 16,612, or 72.2 per cent.

SENATE PASSES BRIDGE BILL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The Senate today passed a bill introduced by Senator Spencer to grant a three-year extension of time for completion of the East Side approaches to the St. Louis municipal bridge.

The measure goes to the House.

MISSOURIAN TO HUNT TREASURE OF INCAS

Lieut. G. H. Tarr of East Prairie Heads Exposition to Ecuador.

Legendary treasure of the Incas, South American Indians who at one time ruled much of the territory now comprising Ecuador, Peru and Bolivia, believed to be buried along the Napo River in Ecuador, is to be sought by a party of 13 men, organized by Lieut. G. H. Tarr of East Prairie, Mo., of whom six assembled here today for the start to South America. They will depart tonight for New Orleans, whence they sail Saturday for Guayaquil, Ecuador. At Panama City, where their steamer will call, the remaining members will join the party.

Lieut. Tarr, who served in the medical corps at Camp Lewis, Wash., throughout the war, is 45 years old. Previous to the war he spent six years in Sonora, Mexico, as a soldier of fortune. At the home of his brother, J. W. Tarr, 5051 Vernon avenue, today he outlined his plans.

Selected 13 Men.

Through a man in New York he obtained old Spanish maps and descriptions of the country in which the millions of the Incas are reputed to have been hidden hundreds of years ago. By advertising, outlining his venture, he opened correspondence with about 350 men, from which he selected 13, most of them former service men, and ranging from 25 to 35 years. Each is providing his own funds for the two years the campaign is expected to occupy, and which is expected to cost about $1200 per man.

With the exception of Pratt, who is a geologist and assayer, the others were selected largely because of the estimate formed of them by Tarr, as men able to stand hardship and with a fair amount of nerve.

Others Who Were Chosen.

Among the men to join at Panama City are several who have spent a number of years in South America. One who may join at New Orleans, Walter Johnson of Shreveport, spent 12 years in Ecuador and Guatemala, and his wife is a cousin of the President of Ecuador.

From Guayaquil, Tarr expects to take his party by rail to Quito, capital of Ecuador, on the slopes of the Andes, there to outfit its members with burros, enlist Indians as pack carriers, and complete the purchase of equipment and tropical clothing already begun. With Pratt's aid he expects to do some prospecting for gold and silver, should the search for buried ingots prove futile.

COUNTY DRY DEMOCRATS WIN WITH WOMEN'S AID

Hay Indorsed for Delegate-at-Large and Reed's Resignation as Senator Demanded.

Refusal of many of the women and several of the men selected by Al G. Bruce as members of his half of the Central Township delegation to the Democratic County Convention in Clayton yesterday afternoon to stand with him in his fight against John E. Mooney and indorsement of Charles M. Hay for delegate-at-large to the Democratic State Convention gave absolute control of the convention to Mooney. Hay was indorsed.

The women broke away from Bruce when they learned that the county fight was considered a wet and dry fight, and that if they voted with Bruce they would be considered allied with the wets.

Bruce and Mooney represent Central township on the County Committee and each was striving for control of the convention. At the township mass meeting Saturday night Bruce seemed to have control, but consented to a suggestion by Mooney that they split the delegation to the county convention, each naming half the 48 delegates to which the township was entitled.

Mooney Faction in Control.

When the convention met yesterday afternoon, it was early apparent that Mooney and his faction were in control. Mooney's selection of George Barnett of Webster Groves, his associate in the practice of law, for temporary chairman, carried, and Mooney was able to control all of the committees, resolutions, organization and credentials.

While the contest was in reality a wet and dry fight, that issue developed solely on the question of Hay's indorsement, no effort being made to have a resolution either for or against prohibition or the Volstead law. The final vote on Hay's indorsement showed that the defection from the Bruce camp had been even greater than had been supposed, the vote for the indorsement being 49 for to 16 against. Bruce had contended at the opening of the convention that he would control it.

The question of denunciation of Senator Reed did not enter into the action of the convention, most of the Bruce delegates as well as virtually all, if not all, the Mooney delegates favoring the anti-Reed resolution.

The resolutions indorsing President Wilson's administration expressed full approval of his stand on the peace treaty and the league of nations. Senator Reed was vigorously condemned, the resolutions declaring that his attitude on the peace treaty and toward the President was not representative of the St. Louis county democracy and demanding that he resign so that a successor who will stand with the Democrats of Missouri on public questions may be chosen to succeed him. The resolutions protested against his selection as a delegate-at-large to the national convention.

Edward F. Goltra was indorsed for national committeeman and the State administration as well as that of the Democratic officials of St. Louis county was approved. The selection of Charles M. Hay as delegate-at-large and of Con. P. Curran and John C. Roberts as Tenth District delegates to the national convention was recommended. The candidacy of W. O. Stacy of Webster Groves for the Democratic nomination for State Treasurer was indorsed.

List of the Delegates.

The delegates elected to the State convention were:

St. Ferdinand Township—Frank A. Thompson, Mrs. Rene de Penaloza and Mrs. E. C. Slevin.

Bonhomme Township—Mrs. Minnie Radcliffe, W. M. Daly, J. F. Rudder and Mrs. Davis Biggs.

Meramec Township—Tony Blomes and Walter Orr.

Singer's Midgets Have an Act That Appeals to Children; Negro Comedians Really Funny.

One of the best bills at the Orpheum in many weeks is the one which opened yesterday. Headliners are Singer's Midgets, a most remarkable aggregation of diminutive talent, with a series of acts which are put on with almost bewildering speed and snap. Their entourage includes ponies and elephants and their talent runs the gamut from music to rough riding and acrobatics. The act is beautifully set and should be a prime attraction for children.

Ivan Bankoff, one of the best of the Russian dancers, has the assistance of a remarkable coryphee identified on the bill only as Miss Phebe. Her toe dancing is a revelation.

Moss and Frye are a team of real negro comedians who have struck a rich vein of humor. Their unusual dialogue keeps the audience roaring. They also can sing.

Eva Taylor and her company have a neat little sketch which turns on the post-prohibition demand for liquor at any price and has a startling climax.

BOND SALESMAN FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN BROKER'S OFFICE

President of Company Found in Corridor Nearly Unconscious From Alcohol Poisoning.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 13.—W. C. Bryan, formerly of Indianapolis, a stock and bond salesman, was found dead with two bullet wounds in his body, in the offices of the Insurance Trust Co. here last night. J. Ellsworth Griffin, president of the company, was found unconscious in a corridor near the offices.

Physicians who attended Griffin said he was suffering from alcohol poisoning. Two bottles of whisky were found in his pockets, police said. A revolver with three cartridges emptied lay beside Bryan's body.

Mrs. Griffin, who told the police she went to the offices to meet her husband, found Bryan lying in a pool of blood.

FORMER CANDIDATE CONVICTED UNDER ESPIONAGE ACT

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 13.—Jacob O. Bentall, former Socialist candidate for Governor of Minnesotas, was again found guilty of a charge of violating the espionage act, by a jury, in United States District Court here last night. He will be sentenced later. The jury was given the case at 4 p. m. and reported at 9:45.

The Government charged that Bentall made a speech at Hutchinson, Minn., in 1917: "Attempting to incite drafted and enlisted men to insubordination," during the war. He was convicted on two of three counts in the indictment in April, 1918, and sentenced by Judge Morris to five years in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth. This conviction, however, was reversed by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals which ruled that Judge Morris erred in his instructions to the jury, and a retrial was ordered.

HOSMER HALL FOUNDER DEAD

Miss Clara G. Shepard Succumbs at Ashtabula, O.

Word reached St. Louis yesterday of the death April 3, at her home in Ashtabula, O., of Miss Clara G. Shepard, one of the founders of Hosmer Hall. She was about 80 years old.

With Miss Martha Matthews she founded the local school and was identified with it for 15 years, selling her interest about 1895 and returning to her former home at Ashtabula. The funeral was held April 5. In addition to the school here Miss Shepard established Shepard Hall, a dormitory building at Grand River Institute, where she was trained for teaching.

MAN UNDER ARREST ACCUSED OF HAVING SEVENTEEN WIVES

Prisoner Guarded After Slashing His Throat and Wrists; Five of Wives Said to Be Missing.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—Richard Huirt, alleged bigamist, was guarded in a hospital here yesterday, recovering from wounds inflicted by himself Saturday and Sunday. Officers said they had identified 17 wives, of whom five were said to be missing.

The police said they had learned of wives in Spokane, Seattle, Santa Monica, Cal.; Ranger, Tex.; Alberta, Can., and Los Angeles.

Huirt was taken into custody here Saturday by two deputy Sheriffs, who sought information concerning the disappearance of Mrs. Louise Hilton, whom he married in Seattle. No formal charge was made against him. He informed officers papers in a safe deposit box in San Diego would clear him of suspicion and the officers took him there. As the party left the train Huirt slashed his throat with a pocket knife, the officer said. He was taken to a hospital and, officers said, slashed his wrists late Sunday. His wounds are not considered dangerous.

DESLYS' JEWELS WORTH MILLION

Valuation of Property of Late Dancer Just Completed.

By the Associated Press.

MARSEILLES, April 13.—An expert voluation of the jewels of the late Gaby Deslys, the dancer, has just been completed, according to the Petit Parisien. The valuation of the jewels was placed at 5,300,000 francs (normally $1,060,000).

LIGHTLESS NIGHTS IN DETROIT

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., April 13.—Detroit went back to war-time, lightless nights last night and industrial plants received their second blow in six months in the form of a general shut down as a result of the railroad tieup.

Approximately 50,000 factory workers went home temporarily jobless when power was shut off to all but those industries classed as "essential" by the Detroit-Edison company.

SAFE BURGLARS GET $240

Burglars in the office of the Harry F. Brockmann Real Estate Co., 2711 Franklin avenue, early yesterday knocked the combination from a safe with a chisel and hammer and stole $240 and a check for $32.50.

WOMEN DEFEAT HUSBANDS FOR MAYOR AND ALDERMAN

Officers in Texas Town Challenged Wives to Do Better—They're Going to, They Say.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEWETT, Tex., April 13.—The city of Jewett was incorporated in 1917 and the usual set of Mayor, Marshal and Aldermen have been elected every two years. According to the views of the citizens, the town in all the past years, has made no progress under men officers. They have demanded reforms, both moral and civil, only to have their demands ignored. With the consent of the women on April 6, a ticket was placed in the field running the wives against each candidate for Alderman and a woman against the candidate for Mayor, a former army Captain, leaving the office of Marshal to a man. The result was a victory of nearly two to one for the women. Jewett was made the first incorporated town or city in the United States with a woman Mayor and Board of Aldermen.

This ticket was elected: Mrs. J. T. Jackson, Mayor; Mrs. F. V. Harrison, Mrs. Robert Dotson, Mrs. Cooley Evans, Mrs. R. H. Evans and Mrs. J. L. Barron for Aldermen, and R. F. Dunn for Marshal.

In an interview the Mayor elect said: "Jewett has had men officers for many years. They have had their chance but they did absolutely nothing, and we women finally got tired and told them so. They 'ruffled up,' of course, as men will do if you interfere with them, and challenged us to do better. Our friends accepted the challenge and elected the Mayor and gave me the wives of the Councilmen as Aldermen and told us to go at it. We will."

FUNERAL OF MRS. SCHOFIELD

Widow of Minister Died Sunday at Age of 92.

Funeral services of Mrs. Julia Fray Schofield, 92 years old, widow of the Rev. James Schofield, who was pastor of the Third Baptist Church, were held this afternoon from the Third Baptist Church, with interment in Bellefontaine Cemetery. Mrs. Schofield died at 7 a. m. Sunday at the home of a daughter, Julia Schofield, 4471 Olive street.

Mrs. Schofield was born in 1828 at Rochester, N. Y., the daughter of William Fray, a Baptist minister. Upon her graduation from a girl's seminary in Rochester, in 1855, she and the Rev. Mr. Schofield were married. He had just been graduated from Rochester Seminary. She is survived by four daughters.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Martin J. Gillan of Wisconsin was nominated today by President Wilson to be a member of the Shipping Board.

REBELS REPORTED TRAPPED IN GUATEMALA CITY

Entry Declared Due to Strategy of President Cabrera, who Now Has Upper Hand.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Private advices received here picture the situation in Guatemala City as a trap that had been sprung by President Estrada Cabrera on his enemies rather than a rebel victory. It was explained that the failure of the President to use the army to prevent the entry of the rebels into the capital was a strategem employed to give him the upper hand with a minimum of bloodshed.

Strong Government forces were stationed at Lapalama, a suburb, where President Cabrera is located, and at other points from where operations can be directed that will effectually close all the exits from the city, these reports said. After the rebels had looked into the city, Cabrera was said to have announced to them the capital would remain under siege until the insurgents sued for terms. The water supply would be cut off, food shipments be stopped and only women, children and other non-combatants would be permitted to pass the line of siege. The message added, in order to hasten a comparatively bloodless victory.

FORMER MAYOR OF SALEM DIES

Dr. Omer Adrian Kell, 48, Succumbs to Blood Poisoning.

Dr. Omer Adrian Kell, 48 years old, former Mayor of Salem, Ill., died yesterday at the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium from an infection of the left thumb. In redressing a surgical case he had punctured his thumb. Blood poisoning developed and he entered the hospital April 5. Three operations failed to check the spread of the infection. Two years ago he spent three weeks in a St. Louis hospital as the result of a similar condition.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cecile Maxey Kell, and two daughters, May, 6 years old, and Rita, 4. The funeral and burial will be at Salem tomorrow.

MAN IS FOUND DEAD IN BED

T. Jeff Daniel, 70, Succumbs Suddenly at Hot Springs.

T. Jeff Daniel, 70 years old, of 5915 Waterman avenue, for a number of years engaged in the livestock commission business at the National Stock Yards, East St. Louis, was found dead in bed this morning at Hot Springs, Ark., according to a telegram received by Albert L. Keechler, a commission merchant, and friend of the family. Daniel was at Hot Springs for his health.

For a number of years he was a member of the livestock commission firm of Evans-Snider-Buel Co. He leaves a widow and two sons.

CHICAGO & NORTHWESTERN MAY BUY LINES IN ILLINOIS

Road Considering Purchasing Properties That Will Bring It Within 35 Miles of St. Louis.

Acquisition by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company of properties which will bring it within 35 miles of St. Louis is under consideration today at the annual and a special meeting of the stockholders, called at the general offices of the company, 226 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago.

There are two general propositions up, the first being the creation of a proposed bonded indebtedness to run 117 years, for the purchase of new roads and the retirement of present bonds.

The second proposition concerns authorization of the purchase of the following lines, one of which would take the Northwestern into Southern Illinois, within 15 miles of Edwardsville:

Wolf River Valley Railway Co., Belle Fourche Valley Railway Co., James River Valley and Northwestern Railway Co., Macoupin County Extension Railway Co., Iowa Southern Railway Co., Missouri Valley and Blair Railway and Bridge Co., Wyoming & Northwestern Railway Co., Pierre, Rapid City and Northwestern Railway Co., the De Pue, Ladd and Eastern Railway Co., and the Albany Railroad Bridge Co.

William H. Finley is president and John D. Caldwell secretary of the system. The move is to connect and unify the entire system.

NEW TRAFFIC ORDINANCE ENACTED BY EAST ST. LOUIS

A new traffic ordinance was enacted yesterday by the East St. Louis City Council. Mayor Stephens voted against the ordinance because, he said, he was not familiar with it, but from the Clerk's reading of the bill he believed some sections could be made more definite. He also said that a section prohibiting an intoxicated person from driving a motor vehicle was unnecessary, as nobody is presumed to be intoxicated.

The ordinance gives right-of-way to vehicles approaching a corner from the right except where traffic officers are on duty, when their orders shall prevail. The ordinance prohibits autos making a complete turn at designated street intersections in the business district, and prohibits parking of autos on Broadway, Missouri avenue and Collinsville avenue in the business district. A fine of from $10 to $100 is provided for violation.

Mayor Stephens and Commissioner Whalen voted against adoption of the minutes of the meeting of April 5, because they do not contain expressed sentiments on the report of a firm of public accountants, and the bill for same, which was submitted at the meeting of that date.

BOND ISSUE INDORSED BY FURNITURE BOARD OF TRADE

The $24,000,000 municipal bond issue, to be voted on May 11, was indorsed last night at meetings held by the Furniture Board of Trade, at the American Annex Hotel; the St. Louis Coal Club, at the same hotel; and Carpenters' Local No. 73, at 3024 Olive street.

Supplementary registration, for the bond issue election, will be held May 5 for voters who, because of illness or absence from the city, were unable to make necessary transfer of their names on precinct poll books March 25. The registration of March 25 was for those who had moved, or come of age, since the previous registration, and for returned service men. The supplementary "absentee and invalid" registration will take place at the Election Board office in the city hall May 5, and those who apply must present affidavits of two voters in their precinct that they were out of the city March 25, or a physician's certificate of illness on that day. The absentees must have been at least 50 miles from the city.

Those who have moved since March 25 can apply at the Election Board office for a transfer at any time before May 5.

10,000 KANSAS COAL MINERS REPORTED IDLE

Only Four Steam Shovels in State in Operation and no Deep Shafts Are Being Worked.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Kan., April 13.—Almost complete paralysis of the Kansas coal industry is reported today. The announcement at the headquarters of the coal operators as to operations said that only four steam shovels were working. No deep mines are working.

The report shows that not more than 200 miners out of the more than 12,000 in the district are at work. No strike has been called and the men are refraining from work on their own account, so far as the records show.

When the names of 25 miner's union officials and miners ordered by Judge Andrew J. Curran yesterday to appear before the Industrial Court to testify concerning conditions in the mining field, were called in court this morning, only two men responded. They were Tony Ruper, a white miner, and Thomas Murdock, a negro.

Judge Curran instructed W. E. Payton, marshal of the Industrial Court, to call the roll from the steps of the courthouse. There was no response. Steps were immediately taken for contempt proceedings and the arrest of the men who refused to obey the order to appear will begin this afternoon.

BIRMINGHAM OVERALL CLUB NOW HAS 3000 MEMBERS

By the Associated Press.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 13.—The Birmingham Overall Club, with 3000 members pledged to wear overalls until clothing prices go down, was formally organized here last night at a mass meeting. The action followed refusal during the day of Birmingham newspapers to comply with a request by a committee of retail clothiers that they cease publication of news items as to formation of overall clubs, the clothiers alleging their business was being hurt by the movement.

Friday, April 16, was set as the day on which every member of the club is to appear on the streets clad in overalls and a solemn pledge was taken that the denims will be worn until the price of clothing hits the "toboggan."

LONG IN FAVOR OF AMENDING THE DRY ENFORCEMENT ACT

SPEAKS HERE AT TESTIMONIAL DINNER

Expresses Belief That Supreme Court Will Hold That States May Define an Intoxicant.

Breckinridge Long, Third Assistant Secretary of State, and candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator from Missouri, last night announced his stand on prohibition and the Volstead law at a testimonial dinner given him at the Planters Hotel by several hundred of his St. Louis and Missouri supporters.

He declared positively for law enforcement and against the saloon, his statement along this line bringing prolonged cheers from the diners, an enthusiasm which noticeably diminished when he seemingly attempted to soften this position by declaring that he favored amending the Volstead law to give the states greater power in its enforcement. His complete statement on prohibition was:

The Constitutional amendment providing for prohibition is a fact and at the present time is the supreme law of the land. Whatever of merit there may have been or may be in the argument that it is not in conformity with fundamental Democratic doctrine, I am sure the Democratic party cannot take a stand which would deny respect for or allegiance to the Constitution of the United States.

Opposed to Saloon.

Further than that I am sure the Democratic party, and equally sure that I, cannot take a stand in opposition to law enforcement. Furthermore I am unalterably opposed to the reopening of the saloon and against the influence of the saloon and will be opposed to any scheme which has that as its object, or which will reinstate those interests in control of our politics.

But it is premature to discuss now in detail provisions of the enforcement act. The validity of the constitutional amendment itself and the constitutionality of the enforcement act are now being considered by the Supreme Court in cases brought before that tribunal and until its decision we will not know the law. The decision may remove the whole question from the field of political discussion.

My personal opinion is that certain features of the enforcement act are not in conformity with our form of government and if the act should be held constitutional would be in favor of amending such provisions as in their operation prove an unnecessary hardship and develop to be unnecessary to carry out the provisions of the Constitution.

I believe, and believe the court will hold that there are certain residuary powers in the states not delegated to the Federal Government, in the exercise of which each State can define for itself an intoxicant, provided always the letter and the spirit of the constitutional amendment are observed.

Duty to Await Decision.

When the court has passed upon these questions I may have something further to say. However, as it stands at the present time the question is to be declared by the courts in the ordinary processes of the law, which are now in motion, and it is our duty as citizens to await the proper decision of these matters in the established manner and thereby manifest our respect for and belief in our institutions. Otherwise we join the ranks of and set an example to certain radicals among our fellows, and that, in the present situation of the world, is to give aid and comfort to those who seek satisfaction of their various desires without regard to law and in defiance of its provisions.

From the standpoint of politics Long's statement on prohibition was of particular importance because of the recent announcement by Maj. Harry B. Hawes that if Long or some other candidate did not make the race for the Senate on a platform advocating amendment of the Volstead law to permit the sale of beer and light wines, he in all probability would make the race himself.

Hawes May Enter Race.

It was the expressed opinion of many of those who heard Long last night that his stand on prohibition would not be satisfactory to Hawes, and that if Hawes stood by his declarations of the past few weeks, his announcement as a candidate for Senator would soon be forthcoming. The opinion also was heard that Long's stand would in all probability keep Charles M. Hay, active dry advocate, out of the race, though some expressed the opinion that Long, while probably too dry to suit Hawes, was hardly dry enough to suit Hay, and that if Hawes got into the race Hay also would enter.

Long dealt in his speech with many of the problems of government. After acknowledging his appreciation of the reception and after recounting briefly America's achievements in the war, Long attacked the critics of the administration. He said:

"There are those among us even who would detract from the splendor of our victory. There are those who attempt to destroy the reputation of their country. By innuendo indirect and by unshamed criticism, but always for some purpose, they would have their fellows feel they had not done their utmost. Shame on him who points at America the critical finger of scorn. The sons and daughters of America have pride in their accomplishments and will resent the utterances of those who do not tender her full glory for it is a pastime indulged in detraction by those of high and low degree, but in the end all will find themselves in the category with a distinguished admiral who seems to have successfully demonstrated that he could have won the war himself six months sooner if it had not been for the United States."

Discusses Treaty Situation.

Speaking of the league of nations, he said it was the hope of prevention of future wars. "The plan was sincere in conception," he said, "beneficent in design and stands approved and accepted by the people everywhere and by nearly all the governments of the world."

Failure of the Senate to ratify the treaty, he said, deprived the United States of the right to use $800,000,000 collected by the Alien Property Custodian during the war to pay American claims against Germany growing out of the war, and that the right to sue in our courts for these funds is denied Germans, and sales to Americans of the seized property is confirmed.

It is inconceivable, he said, that Germany, in a separate treaty, would again agree to these terms, and without the treaty there are no funds available to pay legitimate war claims of Americans.

He then attacked the pending resolution declaring peace, charging that it was unconstitutional and violative of the functions of the executive.

Long was introduced by former Congressman Robert Lamar of Houston, Texas County, who was preceded by Miss Mary Semple Scott, chairman of education for the St. Louis Metropolitan District, under the Democratic National Committee. Miss Scott talked of the interest of women in politics through their interest in legislation affecting women and children and the home. William LeBeaume presided.

WOMAN HELD BY MARSHAL UNTIL 1914 FINE IS PAID

Sum of $163.80 Required to Release Mrs. Genevieve Broe From Custody—Appeals Increase Costs.

A Police Court fine of $1 and costs imposed in April 1914, upon Mrs. Genevieve Broe, wife of Timothy Broe, a salesman, 2536 Pennsylvania avenue, Maplewood, caused her to spend three and one-half hours in custody at Maplewood City Hall Friday night, while her husband procured $163.80 with which to obtain her freedom.

Mrs. Broe was fined in 1914 after she had an altercation at Maplewood with Mrs. Josephine Ruck. Mrs. Broe carried her case by successive appeals to the St. Louis County Board of Appeals, each time losing. The $1 fine and the Justice Court and Circuit Court costs were unpaid. The Court of Appeal costs were paid.

Marshal Ruck recently was instructed by the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clayton to collect the fine and costs. Friday night he and a deputy intercepted her on the way home from a picture show and held her at the city hall until her husband obtained from Peter J. Broe, his father, a check to cover the total. Mrs. Broe was released about 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning and the check was paid into the Circuit Court at Clayton today.

BANKERS VOTE $4500 TO SIX POLICEMEN SHOT IN ROBBERY

Dependent Relatives of Patrolman Terrence McFarland, Who Was Killed, Will Get $1000.

The Associated Bankers of St. Louis has voted rewards totaling $4500 to the six policemen who participated in the killing of the bank robber, Fred Smith, who held up the Easton-Taylor Trust Co., 4474 Easton avenue, April 5.

Dependent relatives of Patrolman Terrence McFarland, who was killed in the battle with the robber, will receive $1000. Sergts. William L. Henry and Michael P. Flavin and Patrolman Claude C. Adams, who were wounded by Smith, each will receive $1000, and Patrolman John Voss and Otto Glaeser, who were wounded by the accidental discharge of a riot gun, will receive $250 each.

A letter announcing the rewards and expressing appreciation of the work done by the policemen was received by Capt. Peter Reynolds of the Deer Street District last night from Victor T. Moberly, secretary of the banker's organization.

The Police Board will vote a year's salary to the dependent relatives of Patrolman McFarland. Until three weeks prior to his death, McFarland lived with the widow and children of his brother, the late Detective Hugh McFarland.

$10,000 PLEDGED TO DEFRAY EXPENSES OF JEWISH CAMPAIGN

Columbian Club Meeting Acts to Reduce Outlay for Administrative Work.

A number of St. Louis Jews, meeting last night in the Columbian Club, Lindell boulevard near Vandeventer avenue, pledged $10,000 to defray the expenses of the coming campaign to obtain the St. Louis quota of a $35,000,000 national fund with which succor will be given to people of Eastern Europe who need food. This action means that the entire contribution in this city will go toward the work for which it is given, with no substracton for the work of collection.

The pledge was suggested by Nathan Frank, chairman for the campaign, after he had read a report that the Joint Distribution Committee, which is the national organization for the disbursement of [illegible] relief founds collected among Jews, had expended $27,000,000 with [illegible] administration expense of only 1 [illegible] cent. The campaign will open [illegible] 2.

MRS. FISKE ACTS OWN PERSONALITY IN PLAY

Creole Comedy, "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans," Has Artistic Stage Settings.

BY RICHARD L. STOKES.

FROM the performance of that gossamer bagatelle of a comedy, "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans," in which Mrs. Fiske opened a week's engagement last night at the American Theater, there emerged several clews tending to indicate that the actress herself had a finger or so in the composition, although the authorship is credited exclusively to Laurence Eyre. The locale of the play is New Orleans, which was Mrs. Fiske's birthplace. She was 21 years old in 1886, the year in which, at about the same age, her heroine encounters the crisis of her life. The surname of Mis' Nelly is Daventry. Mrs. Fiske's maiden name was Davey.

Without pressing the assumption too violently, one may at least feel certain that the character of Mis' Nelly, as she returns in the early forties to New Orleans from Paris, is drawn from that of Mrs. Fiske today; so that in essentials of personality, if not of experience, the actress is the actual as well as the stage heroine of the play. Her task in the role of Mis' Nelly, therefore, is mostly the easy and grateful one of being her piquant, charming self.

Surely this is Mrs. Fiske's own—the wise, mellow and witty philosophy which falls from the lips of Mis' Nelly. Hers also would seem the recurrent references to the youth and romance which may be cherished through the years in the human heart. "I feel sixteen inside," avers Mis' Nelly, and adds: "That precious Modjeska said, 'No woman can act the part of Juliet until she has passed the age when she can do so with propriety.' And it's true." Mrs. Fiske herself has remained magically the girl in spirit, although there are grizzled veterans in St. Louis who remember her as a classmate at the Benton School.

Poetic Stage Effects.

Her present vehicle may be described as fragile in plot, pungent in characterization, charming as to literary style, and highly artistic in technical presentation. As an instance of excellence in the last department, which is in the hands of Mrs. Fiske's husband, Harrison Grey Fiske, it may be remarked that the three acts have the same scene—a garden on St. Charles street in New Orleans; but that the garden is displayed in such strikingly different phases of atmosphere as to seem three distinct sites.

We first see it bathed in the golden sunshine of a Southern afternoon. Then it lies glamorous in the night, under the glow of oriental lanterns—an unchanted spot visited by Mardi Gras mummers in their motley, and haunted by songs and ghostly forms of long ago. Finally, the garden shows bleak with the dawn; the grumblings of a retiring storm are heard, and the twittering of awakening birds; more felt than seen is the crouching form of a black witch, who wails the spells of a voodoo incantation against the keening of the wind.

In the midst of these poetic scenes, a pretty story unfolds itself. It appears that 20 years ago madcap Nelly Daventry, belle of New Orleans, was jilted by her Creole lover, Georges Durand, and retreated to Paris to nurse her grief and humiliation. She is drawn back to her home by the news that her niece, Delphine Falaise, is engaged to Durand's son, Felix. Mis' Nelly looks upon Georges as her one mortal enemy. She must prevent that marriage.

A Creole Romance.

She sends to New Orleans her own maid, Melanie Cardanne, with instructions to put the constancy of Felix to the test. The youth emerges immaculate; besides, Mis' Nelly finds on arriving, that Georges is opposed to the match as she is herself. This changes the face of things, and she determines to avenge herself on her former lover. Her machinations are simple but effective. By donning the costume of her girlhood, she reawakens Georges' love, he perceiving how attractive a woman she still remains. She stirs him to jealous rage by exerting her fascinations upon the susceptible Felix, who temporarily abandons Delphine and implores the autumnal Mis' Nelly to marry him-self.

Finally, in the magic setting of the second act, Pere Andre Clement, a rival of Georges in the old days, is moved to tell how innocent was the act which provoked Georges into breaking his engagement. Delphine and Felix are reconciled, and Mis' Nelly finds once more her lost romance. As the curtain falls, the following dialogue occurs between mischievous Mis' Nelly and the elder Durand, to whom has come some glimmering of enlightenment:

"Durand: Did you come back to N'Orleans on purpose to marry me?

"Nelly: Dare I tell you, dare I?

"Durand: If you feel quite like it, Nelly.

"Nelly: I will—lean close—I must whisper—I'm damned if I know."

A Confusion of Dialects.

The dialogue is richly supplied with a variety of dialects. The Creole patois (vouched for in this play by George W. Cable), is spoken by the two Durands and Pere Clement. Delphine uses, except when she forgets, the soft drawl of the South without any French admixture. The negro servants employ a gibberish of degenerate Creole. Melanie Cardanne, posing as a Parisian, speaks French, until, terrified by the brandishing of a voodoo charm, she confesses she is a New Orleans quadroon, "yellow Josephine," and lapses into the negro argot.

Mrs. Fiske judiciously attempts no dialect at all. The complaint has often been made that her speech on the stage is unintelligible. The writer was able to understand nearly everything she said except when she raised her voice and uttered the choppy, staccato bark which she affects for purposes of intensity. These occasions were fortunately few.

In fact, Mrs. Fiske's voices—she has several for use in different moods—are no small factor in the success of her interpretation. Her utterance was now tender and now mocking; it was sly with a dainty roguishness, or resonant with affected anger; at the proper time it was musical, and on fitting occasion harsh. She had no difficult acting to do; miming her own personality, she could not but be generally convincing.

Hamilton Revelle did excellent character work as the elder Durand, impulsive, hot-headed and stubborn, and his enunciation of dialect proved how intelligible it can be if scrupulously undertaken. Both he and Victor Benoit (Felix) were chosen not only for talent but physical aptitude for their parts. Joseph Greene was Pere Clement, Dorothy Day was Delphine Falaise, Gertrude Chase gave an exotic portrayal of Melanie Cardanne, and negro parts were taken by Clarissa Stein, Eva Benton and Ezra Walck. The singing of plantation and Creole songs behind the scenes in the second act, by a chorus of mellow voices, was not the least agreeable feature of the production.

COTE BRILLIANTE SCHOOL PARENTS INDORSE MISS ERNST

Principal Declared to Have Been of Great Assistance in Furthering the Organization.

In advance of the Board of Education meeting tonight the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Cote Brilliante School today issued a statement indorsing Miss Lillie R. Ernst, principal of that school, who has been nominated as assistant superintendent of instruction to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of George Platt Knox.

The association in its statement says that contrary to assertions which have been made by her opponents Miss Ernst has not opposed the organizations of teachers and patrons, but has been of great assistance in furthering the organization.

The teachers of Cote Brilliante School yesterday afternoon issued a statement unanimously indorsing Miss Ernst and they supplemented this today with a positive statement that she had never objected to teachers of that school joining a grade teachers' association.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone. Query for Sunday must be mailed a week beforehand.

ESTHER.—In 1921 Ash Wednesday falls on Feb. 9.

J. O.—Apply at some legal blank stationery store for the material you want.

J. L. M.—Consult some bank. They can probably tell you the safest way to send money to Europe.

DOG LOVER.—There are different mange cures on the market. You might try one of them on your dog.

AN OLD-TIMER.—Write to the Commissioner of Pensions, Interior Department, Washington, D. C., concerning your pension.

H. F. B.—The French note reads, "My children, I do not care anything at all about that. This boy is coarse. To him love is nothing but a matter of dress and to her it is not as much as that."

D. J.—No doubt a letter addressed to Ripley, O., would reach the party. The population of Ripley at the last estimate was 1840. Yes, Cairo, Ill., is where the Ohio River flows into the Mississippi.

GRANVILLE GLOOR.—The men in the President's Cabinet are: Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State; David F. Houston, Secretary of Treasury; Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War; A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney-General; Albert S. Burleson, Postmaster General; Josephus Daniels, Secretary of Navy; John Barton Payne, Secretary of Interior; Edwin T. Meredith, Secretary of Agriculture; Joshua W. Alexander, Secretary of Commerce, William Bauchop Wilson, Secretary of Labor.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT.—Mars was, with the Greeks and Romans, the god of war and tumult of battle. The Greek and Roman conceptions differ radically. In legends Mars is commonly the son of Zeus and Hera. Zeus was considered the father of the gods. Mars, though prominent in the poets, plays no large part in Greek cult or myth. He did not fill a large place in religious thought, and at but few localities was his worship important. In the earlier art, especially on vases, Mars is often bearded and regularly in the full armor of a Greek soldier. In Rome his worship is among the most ancient and important. His temple and oldest altar stood in the Campus Martius. The chief festivals of Mars were in the months of March (Martius, from the god) and October, which was clearly connected with the opening and close of the campaign season. The Hellespont was the ancient name for the Dardanelles. The name Hellespont, meaning Sea of Helle, was bestowed with reference to Helle, daughter of Athamas, King of Thebes, who was fabled to have been drowned in it. It is a narrow strait between Europe and Asia connecting the Sea of Mormora and the arm of the Mediterranean known as the Aegean Sea.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

BROWN EYES.—You could probably get a divorce.

B. S.—The tenant can be put out, since he has been given the notice required by law.

STURGEON.—You can use the name you suggested for your business. You will not need a license or a permit.

LEORA.—If they get a judgment against you, they can levy on your stock. The summons need not be read to the defendant.

ANXIOUS.—We cannot answer your question without knowing all the facts. Inquire of the Home Service Section of the Red Cross.

REAL ESTATE.—If a brother and sister are joint owners of a piece of real estate and one dies, the survivor has a clear title without going through the Probate Court.

BROKEN-HEARTED.—If your husband left you the day after you married him and you have not seen him for five years, get a divorce or have your marriage annulled.

IGN.—If you intend to make and to sell toilet preparations, you will need a merchant's license and a manufacturer's license. Inquire of the License Collector, city hall.

BABE.—Since you married your second husband thinking that you were divorced from the first, you will now have to go through a second marriage ceremony with your second husband, since your first husband has just obtained his divorce.

GEORGE.—If a married man signs a deed conveying title to property, as a single man, he commits an offense, if it is done with intent to defraud. The purchaser of the land would have recourse against him. His signing in that manner affects the validity of the deed if his wife did not sign the deed. It can be remedied by having the wife sign and acknowledge the deed.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

(Answers prepared by a physician of authority. Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given. Questions that cannot be publicly discussed, if showing evidences of sincerity, will be answered when accompanied by stamped envelope.)

STILL HOPEFUL.—A "chapped" face that persists may very well be an eczema. Eczema is a disease needing skilled care and advice as it requires search for constitutional derangements very often the cause. There is no specific treatment, each case is a problem in itself. Very obstinate cases are often markedly benefited by exposure to the X-ray. See a dermatologist.

A CONSTANT READER.—The disease causing liver spots is most often a disease of women, although it occurs in men. It is an expression of a constitutional disturbance. Treatment requires a careful study of the exciting and predisposing causes. Removal of the spots, as in freckles, requires an agent that will remove the upper layers of the skin. Hydrogen peroxide sometimes answers, by its bleaching action, when the spot is very superficial. When more active agents are employed they should be under the care and direction of a physician. These cases are not, as a rule, cases for self-treatment.

DOROTHY.—The treatment of carbuncle usually comes under the care of a surgeon. They are possible to abort in the very beginning by keeping the surface soaked with 5 to 10 per cent solution of carbolic acid or ichthyol, pure or slightly diluted. Once established free injection of carbolic acid in glycerine or oil in 10 per cent solution, at several points of the lesion afterward covering with a 25-per-cent of ichthyol, using lanolin and tunic as a base. When broken down the cavities are washed out with peroxide of hydrogen and the carbolic oil is injected into the cavities, afterward covering with the ichthyol dressing. Operative treatment has long been a favorite method. Deep conical incisions and more recently complete removal of disease tissue by the knife. Constitutional treatment should not be neglected, supporting the patient's strength with alcoholic stimulants or stimulation by such drugs as strychnine, quinine, iron, ammonium carbonate, etc.

40 OF 200 SEATS FILLED AT HOOVER MEETING

J. L. Mauran Presides at Gathering Including Men Regarded as Democrats.

A meeting was held at Hotel Statler yesterday afternoon to begin the organization of whatever sentiment there is in St. Louis for the nomination of Herbert Hoover for President by the Republican national convention. Seats were provided for more than 200 persons, but only about 40 of them were occupied. One-third of the attendance was women. The remainder were business men, many of whom have been regarded as Democrats.

J. L. Mauran presided and among those who spoke were W. F. Gephart, vice president of the First National Bank, who was Food Administrator for St. Louis; G. V. R. Mechin, president of the League of Foreign-Born Voters; James H. Bawden, a commission merchant; Louis Blumenstock, advertising manager for Stix, Baer & Fuller; Roy F. Britton, manager of the state campaign for Hoover, and Mrs. G. V. R. Mechin.

Mauran stated that the purpose of the campaign was to convince politicians in Missouri that there is a definite demand for Hoover in their constituencies. Gephart said Hoover had all the qualities of a good conservative, and none of the qualities of a radical. Mechin said that foreign-born voters were for Hoover. Blumenstock said that he was for Hoover on any ticket and he believed that was the feeling of thousands of others in St. Louis.

A nominating committee was appointed to meet at noon tomorrow and submit the names of 15 St. Louisans to form an executive committee to conduct the campaign here.

Uncle Used Magneto to "Excite" Child, but Coroner Says Shock Was Insignificatnt.

It was learned today that Patrick Meyerscough, 4-year-old son of Peter Meyerscough of Ruma, Monroe County, Ill., died a few days ago in convulsions.

The boy, since the death of his mother, has been living with his uncle, Matt Crowe, a farmer. Crowe testified at the inquest that the boy was incorrigible and was also subject to convulsions. He said that he had on different occasions shocked the boy with the magneto to "excite" him, and that after an application of the electricity a few days ago the boy was seized with a convulsion. Dr. Eckert of Hecker was called, but the boy was dead when he arrived.

Deputy Coroner Fults of Waterloo said today that there was nothing to indicate that the convulsions were caused by the shock. The verdict of the Coroner's jury was that death was caused by convulsions. Fults said he had not yet laid the facts before State's Attorney Gauen. The latter said he had heard of the case, but it had not been brought to his attention officially. He said that if he received official notification he would make an investigation.

SLIPPERY RAILS CAUSE CAR COLLISION; 5 PERSONS HURT

Bellefontaine Car Crashes Into Rear of Tower Grove at Eleventh and Hickory.

Five persons were injured at 10:08 o'clock last night when a southbound Bellefontaine car, in charge of Motorman Albert T. Clifton, crashed into the rear of a Tower Grove car that had stopped at Eleventh and Hickory streets. Four of the injured were on the Tower Grove car. Motorman Clifton told the police his power was shut off and the collision was caused by the failure of his brakes to work properly on slippery rails.

The injured were Arthur Keller, 26 years old, 5323 Arsenal street, spine injured and scalp wounds; Norman Jabour, 26, Majestic Hotel, scalp wounds; Edward Kuehner, 30, of 2202 Warren street, spine injured and bruised; Charles Gregg, 44, of 3200 Olive street, two teeth knocked out and cut over the eyes, and Kirkor Atamein, 37, of 820 Franklin avenue, chest injured. They were treated at the city hospital and taken to their homes.

SOCIALISTS SEND FRATERNAL MESSAGE TO DEBS IN PRISON

National Executive Committee of Party Tell Leader He Is "Beacon Light to Masses."

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 13.—The National Executive Committee of the Socialist party has made public the text of a message sent yesterday to Eugene V. Debs, now in the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. It is described in the text as "fraternal greetings," and a "message of love on the anniversary of your incarceration."

The message is highly commendatory of Debs and declares that he is a "beacon light to the suffering masses."

AUTO ASSOCIATION ELECTION

Phillip H. Brockman Again Named President.

Phillip H. Brockman was relected president of the St. Louis Automobile Manufacturers' and Dealers' Association at a meeting last night at the City Club, after H. F. Fahrenkrog, the opposing candidate, had withdrawn. Other officers elected are: vice president, George Weber; treasurer, W. L. Johnson; directors, L. H. Amrine, Webster Colburn, R. C. Frampton, H. G. Hurd, J. T. Salisbury and Joseph A. Schlect.

The association adopted a motion that all members close their places Sundays if non-members, dealing in used cars, can be compelled to do likewise.

FOUR MORE WOMEN ARE APPOINTED BY CUMMINGS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Appointment of four additional women as members of the Executive Committee of the Democratic National Committee is announced by Chairman Cummings. They are: Mrs. Henry Ridgely of Dover, Del.; Mrs. Charles B. Ames, Washington; Mrs. H. Otto Wittpenn, Jersey City, and Miss Katherine Filene, Boston. Two other women members soon will be named, Chairman Cummings said, giving the women equal representation with the men in the executive body of the Democratic national organization.

The Executive Committee will hold its first joint meeting in Chicago, April 20, simultaneously with a meeting of the Committee on Arrangements for the San Francisco convention.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Power of Independent Action.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The subject of teachers' "unions" has been given so much publicity lately that a word from a trade unionist of 20 years' standing may not be amiss.

A line of argument frequently heard is that the "teachers should retain complete powers of independent action." Evidently this is intended to convey the impression that if the hod carrier on a new school building go on strike, the teachers' union of a neighboring school district will be called out in sympathy. Some people seem to believe that affiliation with the A. F. of L. subjects a particular group to all the vicissitudes of that body, and secures for it none of the virtues.

Of the large number of international unions affiliated with the A. F. of L., there is not one that does not retain "complete powers of independent action," and there is nothing in the constitution that makes an international organization subordinate to the parent body. Its autonomy is always intact. The A. F. of L. cannot order a strike; it cannot compel a local union of an international body to obey an order to strike, either directly or in sympathy; it can act only in an advisory capacity, and none of its policies or practices are mandatory upon affiliated internationals. It may be enlightening to some people to learn that the Federation frowns down on the sympathetic strike.

Teachers are forming unions along the plan of the trades union because, seemingly, all other methods of gaining recognition before school boards and the public have failed. They have, no doubt, come to a realization of the fact that a small, parsimonious group of that indefinite quantity termed the "public" considers them as public slaves instead of public servants of the highest type; that while they are expected to teach ideals of democracy they are themselves subjected to a type of autocracy that may become unbearable.

The trades unionist does not share this belief, hence his complete sympathy with the school teachers, expressed in a most practical way, in their struggle for living wages and a voice in the making of wage schedules. GEO. P. LISCHER.

Mr. Morahan on Whitewash.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I wish to thank, through the column of the people, the many citizens of St. Louis and vicinity for the kind expressions of sympathy and encouragement tendered me since the recent Koch Hospital affair, and especially A. B. C. for the practical manner he adopted in doing so. I appreciate their kindness greatly.

I would like to say in addition that whitewash, applied too thickly, is likely to "run," peel, crack and fall off, creating or disclosing an uglier surface or condition than it was originally meant to conceal. I hope it keeps on cracking 'till it's all off. B. W. MORAHAN.

Careless Handling of Currency.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

With this inadequate protection in the way of armed guards, why do small banks carry such enormous amounts of money within easy access on the counter? Take, for example, the Baden Bank, with the $59,000 loss, and the Lowell Bank, with $11,000 where it could be pushed through the wicket into the bandit's sack. Surely, these banks could have no possible use for such amounts at one time. I dare say that one would find no such amounts in the teller's cage at the First National or Mercantile Trust, or any of the big banks where the volume of business transacted is many times greater. It would seem, then, that the sane thing for the smaller banks to do, for their own and their clients' protection, would be to remove only such money from the vault as is needed from time to time during the day.

A robbery then of one of the smaller banks would not prove so lucrative and would not warrant the risk involved.

SAFETY FIRST.

Recommends Municipal Employment Bureau.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Considerable discussion has been aroused as to employment agencies, their fees, etc., and I suggest that labor organizations, especially the clerks' union, take the proper steps to have them eliminated, and their services performed by the city for a small fee sufficient to meet running expenses. Or better still have employers get their employes through want ads. If any petitions are necessary I am certain sufficient signers could be secured.

C. T. COLLETT.

LET US REASON TOGETHER.

By returning to work the Missouri Pacific switchmen set an excellent example of good judgment to their fellow switchmen who are on strike.

We indulge the hope that all the striking switchmen will shortly come to this wise decision and thus put an end to a situation which is menacing not only the public interest but their own interests and the vital interests of organized labor.

We urge the remaining strikers, particularly here in St. Louis, where labor in the main has been guided by wise counsels, to reconsider and reverse their action, in the light of the revelations of its mistake and the universal opinion outside of their own ranks in condemnation of the strike. This opinon does not touch the merits of their demands. It deals only with the method by which the effort to enforce the demands is made. This opinion embraces not only general impartial public opinion, but the opinion of the leaders and the loyal rank and file of the labor unions—their own fellow workers who see in the strike a tremendous menace to all that organized labor has struggled for in the past.

Not only is the strike in violation of law; not only does it thrust aside all the orderly processes of obtaining just demands and redressing just grievances, but it is in defiance of labor union law and the authority of the strikers' own chosen representatives in the railway brotherhoods. It deals a blow at the very foundation of organized labor by sweeping away all unity, order and discipline within the unions themselves. It tends to destroy all confidence in the reliability and efficiency of union labor and in the good faith of organized labor and the value of union bargains and agreements. It tends to strike down collective bargaining and all the rights that organized labor has won by arduous struggle. It gives aid and comfort to the enemies of organized labor, who point to the strike with derision as the proof of their expressed distrust of the capacity and good faith of organized labor and the integrity and efficiency of unions. The employers who have refused to treat with labor organizations, to give their representatives a hearing or to enter into agreements or submit differences to arbitration, are rejoicing over what they declare is the failure of unionism.

Consider, men, the inevitable futility of the strike with the tremendous forces working against it. It has the opposition of public opinion. The press is a unit against it. The union leaders and the loyal union men are bound to use all their power and influence to break it; union worker is pitted against union worker. To keep trains running the whole power of Federal Government will be invoked and used. The law must be upheld and the transportation service maintained at any cost.

So that the public safety is menaced: the people suffer hardships now and, if the strike is continued, may suffer intolerably greater hardships; the strikers suffer and the cause of organized labor suffers, to no good end. The strikers will be compelled either to submit to the orderly processes of law and organization or bear the heavy responsibility of bringing destruction and chaos on the industries and commerce of the country.

Come, let us reason together. We feel sure that consideration of the question in the light of reason and sober judgment will bring a quick return of normal conditions and will set in motion the machinery provided to work out a just settlement of the differences between the railroad employes and employers. The only way to regain public confidence and good will and to obtain justice is by a return to work.

The experience of the coal miners, who gained nothing by an illegal strike, but everything by a return to work, points the way to a sound conclusion of the problem.

MR. LONG'S CAREFUL STATEMENT.

In his Planters Hotel speech Breckinridge Long almost revealed his real opinion on the subject of Federal prohibition. It is about one-half of one per cent definite.

We gather from his careful statement that Mr. Long, while unalterably opposed to the return of the saloon and the liquor interest in politics, which all right-thinking men will approve, dislikes several features of the Volstead act which are at variance with the rights reserved to the states with respect to the police power.

Mr. Long defers to the decision of the Supreme Court, which he awaits before further expression of his own opinion, but the office of United States Senator, to which Mr. Long aspires, deals with the political and legislative aspect of the question. The people would like to know precisely where Mr. Long stands on Federal prohibition, with respect to the principle of local self-government and state constitutional rights which it invades. It ought not to take many words to define a man's position on that point—the fewer the better.

MR. LANSING'S RECOMMENDATIONS.

Before his retirement from office Secretary Lansing sent to the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate and to the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House a confidential communication containing suggestions for a reorganization of the State Department, in the light of changed conditions; and Congress is said to look favorably upon his recommendations. To what extent, if any, this action of Mr. Lansing contributed to his departure from the Cabinet is not known, but it is certainly a communication of a nature to call for previous submission to the President.

The suggestions touching reorganization could not be without value, coming as they do from the observing head of a great department; and the burden of them is that the machinery of the State Department is no longer adequate to the heavy demands now made upon it. Thus he says:

> In terms of mere bulk and cost alone the figures tell a graphic story. For example, correspondence measured merely by the number of pieces amounted before the war approximately to only 204,000 pieces, whereas it now reaches nearly 800,000 pieces annually; the cost of telegrams has grown from $184,000 in 1914 to $975,000 in 1919; claims which reached only a few million dollars in value in 1914 aggregate today the amazing total of nearly a billion dollars.
>
> Before the war the United States was not directly interested in the political affairs of Europe and the rest of the world, but such great changes have been wrought that occurrences now in the remotest regions of the earth have an immediate effect upon the material interests of the United States, which can be safeguarded only by the most competent and efficient watchfulness.
>
> Moreover, the United States now possesses a direct financial interest in Europe to the extent of $10,000,000,000 as a result of loans made during the war.
>
> These facts obviously suggest a larger and stronger organization than that which the department now possesses, even if nothing more be attempted than the now impossible task of disposing promptly of current routine work.

Mr. Lansing declares that diplomacy has now become economic in that the first consideration of each nation is one of providing its populace with food and clothing, and readjusting its finances; and the fact that the United States has now become a creditor nation, he says, has made it the target for the political as well as the economic aggression of other nations. Specifically, he urged a closer union between the diplomatic and consular services and a higher co-ordination of political and commercial data, so that the two may be considered jointly in their bearing upon each other. He adds:

> At the present time the Department of Commerce disseminates the purely commercial information which may have direct bearing thereon. Mere commercial data are frequently misleading and devoid of substance unless disclosed in their proper political setting, which fact indicates that the Department of State should itself be charged with the dissemination of both the commercial and the political intelligence which is to guide our financial and exporting interests in shaping their forces abroad.

The Department of Commerce appears to be not at all in sympathy with the suggestion that its foreign service for gathering commercial data be taken over by the State Department, but it is difficult to escape the conclusion arrived at by Mr. Lansing, that diplomacy has become economic and that commercial data may have unusual diplomatic significance.

ALLEN VS. HOWAT IN KANSAS.

Alexander Howat and Gov. Henry Allen have suddenly become the two outstanding figures among all Kansans.

Gov. Allen caused a law to be passed protecting public concerns jeopardized by strikes. It committed labor disputes to the adjustment of the judiciary, a tribunal of special jurisdiction being created to consider them. Strikes, abandonment of employment by concerted agreement for the purpose of enforcing demands, were made illegal.

It was a measure of advanced, unusual character, but one for which public sentiment had gradually been prepared by frequent, capricious, even frivolous use of the formidable strike weapon materially affecting the production and distribution of the necessaries of life and the price of such necessaries. Mr. Howat, president of the miners' union of the State of Kansas, held it to be an unwarranted, tyranical measure, classing collusive abandonment of employment with the individual's abandonment of employment as justified by a fundamental right with which the State is not authorized to interfere.

Summoned to give testimony before the strike Judges, Mr. Howat declined to give the court even the recognition of obeying its subpena and was sent to the Girard Jail for contempt. Coal miners to the number of 11,000 thereupon struck in defiance of the new law, leaving only a few mines running with a limited force in the entire State.

This strike is called a demonstration of protest against Mr. Howat's imprisonment, but it is really a strike against the strike court. Under the new law the strike court undoubtedly has jurisdiction over it. On what basis, however, will the court adjudicate it? The court, not the employers, seems to be a party to the dispute which it must adjudicate. To grant the strikers' demands would mean that the court must decree its own abolition.

If the miners, having made their demonstration, return to work, a crisis will be averted. If they continue their strike, the issue will be flatly presented as to whether labor disputes can be settled by orderly means through the law rather than by agencies of force seriously affecting the public welfare. Probably the issue might as well be fought out now as later.

It is Allen vs. Howat in Kansas. Mr. Howat having made the first move, what will the Governor do? Manifestly it is impractical to send 11,000 strikers to jail, especially in happy Kansas, where we have been led to understand the jail is an obsolete institution in most counties.

Should the issue be forced at this time, much will depend on public opinion. No strike can hope for success or long continue in the face of hostile or even an unsympathetic, dissenting public opinion.

State delegations at the G. O. P. convention are going to be connected by telephones in order to save time, says a news item. What do you mean, save time?

WHERE CROKER GOT IT.

Ex-Boss Richard Croker explains that at the time of his second marriage he was chiefly dependent for an income on the winnings of his racehorses. He does not tell how he obtained the securities yielding $35,000 a year he turned over to his first wife and his children. Nor does he tell how he obtained the scant $500,000 he had left after he made provision for the children of the first marriage. But he does tell how he took that $500,000 and through fortunate investments, mainly in real estate at Palm Beach, he has in six years added to his possessions until he now has about $2,500,000.

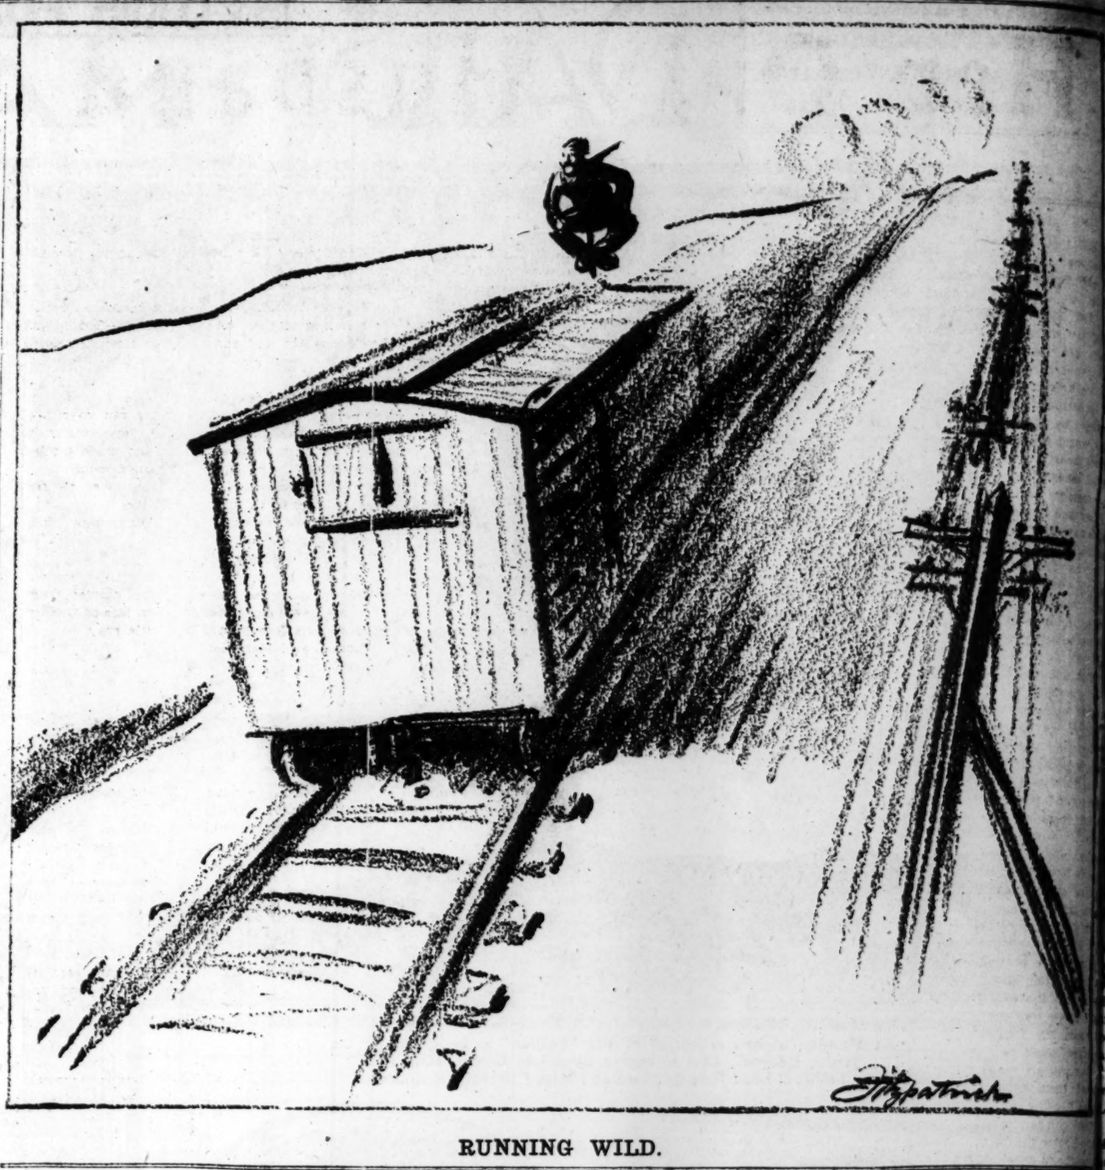

So the old boss, growing mellower with years, has at last showed some responsiveness to the historic question. We do know how he got it—that is, got some part of it, and while it is not the part the public was most curious about and affords no clue as to how he got the other part, it marks progress. Possibly in time we shall know where he got the rest.

Four thousand dollars' worth of liquor was stolen by burglars in 10 robberies Saturday night. If the value is based upon the present prices one man probably made the entire haul and took his loot away inside of himself.

FROM NOW ON.

—From the Columbus Dispatch.

RUNNING WILD.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH by Clark McAdams

MR. ANTWINE'S OPINION.

"IF we are to believe Gov. Lowden and other spokesman for the Republican party, the league of nations, now functioning without us, is to be short-lived," Mr. Antwine said.

"It had the misfortune, so far as our own country is concerned, to be born under a Democratic star, which must at once damn it in the eyes of all good people and do for it shortly.

"However, the Republicans are not to leave the world without hope of an international court before which causes of war may be taken for a happier and less catastrophical decision.

"Gov. Lowden intimates that this is to be something modeled upon the plan of the late Hague Conference, which our own Senator Reed has already assured us needs but to be revised to serve every peaceable purpose the world has, if any.

"None of these gentlemen tells us how we are going to get rid of the league of nations in establishing such a court as Gov. Lowden and Senator Reed describe, but presumably it is to die and permit the Hague Conference to be reborn under Republican auspices.

"Whether it will be kind enough to do that may be a question with some of us with reason to suspect that even without us the league of nations may have left enough nefarious work to keep it going. The chances are that it will not want to do anything of the sort. The late war was as much the consequence of the Hague Conference as anything else, and the prospect of working up another world war in that way is unlikely to attract the countries making up the chief strength of the league.

"The Hague Conference was the league of nations with the Lodge reservations. When it met it found itself quite powerless to command the world in any respect, with the result that the worst of all wars got its impetus from the way to war being left open.

"This, seemingly, is to be the first issue of the presidential campaign—whether we want to go that way again with the Republicans and Senator Reed or the new way with the Democrats and Mr. Taft.

"Imagine that being the issue and the Democrats timid about betting!"

* * *

The most interesting thing young Mr. Rockefeller could tell us while he is here is how it happened that as a son of the world's richest man he did not care to become the world's greatest sport. That is so often the ambition of the sons of very rich men that considering his oportunity we would give a good deal to know just what it was young Mr. Rockefeller said to his father or his father said to him. It is against our experience to think of a young man who might have invented a new kind of midnight frolic or given his name to a new waistcoat being interested in something like the Interchurch World Movement. Will he not tell us how he was raised?

* * *

Gov. Allen's Court of Industrial Relations is working about as most idealistic things are working nowadays—that is, backwards.

* * *

If we had not needed to be told that the population of St. Louis is only 773,000 it would have been more.

Not being a politician, Mr. Hoover naturally cannot understand our expectations of him as a candidate. His supporters feel that he is not trying. This is not Mr. Hoover's fault, but the fault of what has been customary among us. That is, candidates for the presidential nominations hitherto have not needed to stand for anything particularly; they discharged their whole obligation to their followers by issuing a statement of principles. These principles were usually as foreign to the candidates as issuance of such a platform would be foreign to Mr. Hoover. Nevertheless, that is all we have ever known. We do not see that Mr. Hoover is his platform. It is not enough that we have a real value in what the man actually stands for and is known to stand for, whereas we may have no value whatever in what he could say he stood for. (We hope everybody is following here nicely, though we appreciate that we are far beyond the depth of one-story thinkers. In conducting a school of two-story thinking we cannot go along day after day without occasionally heading for deep water. Otherwise our school would collapse.) As Mr. Hoover is unlike any candidate we have ever had, so is his campaign unlike any campaign we have ever had. Both are completely revolutionary. We feel that with respect to the man. It is, indeed, his strength. We do not feel it as to his campaign, which we consider his weakness. That is, we want him as a complete change from what we have had in the way of candidates, but we wish to see him make his campaign exactly as those of whom we wish to be rid have made their campaigns. Are we sound there? No, gentle reader. We are afraid the Hoover campaign is impracticable; but we do not see that if the campaign is impracticable so, too, is the man. We cannot do the thing half way. It is whole Hoover or no Hoover. Say we not truly?

The MIRROR OF PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publications, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

THE WOOD CAMPAIGN.

From the Nation.

SENATOR BORAH and the New York World have dealt a severe blow to the Wood boom by showing that it is supported and housed by multimillionaires and that enormous sums of money are being spent in the effort to capture the nomination. This is hardly to be offset by the medical statement that the doughty General is in no danger of losing his mind because of the injury to his head which resulted in an operation for the removal of what is known as a "benign" growth. But he has carried North Dakota and has gained delegates elsewhere, while his Minnesota success has impressed the politicians. Yet it is difficult to believe that his candidacy now faces. It has been sprung a bit too early; it begins to go much better there will be a rush of the other candidates against him. More than that, there is no popular acclaim of or demand for him. Wall Street, it is true, is warming to him; his platitudes, and his insistence upon the old order with a total failure to produce a program, appeal mightily to those who are profiting well by existing arrangements. But even the complete wreck of the Democratic party will not warrant the Republicans in choosing a nonentity persons to whom the dollar mark is now being so freely attached.

WAR SERVICE BONUSES.

From the New Republic.

WE shall not be forced to pay war bonuses if their advocates think the problem through. A few hundred dollars voted as a gratuity will not open the gates of opportunity, will not curb privilege. On the contrary, the mass of the people who will have to pay the bills will justly regard it as merely another example of privilege. They will observe, too, that other forms of privilege will support the demand, hoping to bind the soldiers' organizations to them by this association of special interests. The power for national improvement which now resides in such organizations will be seriously compromised. They will stand in the popular estimation for selfish associations, prepared to raid the treasury whenever opportunity presents itself. That is the price that must go with the bonus. It is too high.

CHINA'S WAR ON OPIUM.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

IT is a fact very worthy of note that Americans who go to China to study the country almost invariably bring back "a good report." Dr. Ferguson and Dr. Reinsch are names which instantly occur to anyone who thinks about the matter, but there are many others. The latest is Julian Arnold, who for many years has been commercial attache to the United States Department of Commerce in Peking. Speaking in Chicago, the other day, he told of the forward steps which China is taking on her own initiative; how she is trying to model her Government after that of the United States; how she is adopting western industrial methods, as fast as she can get machinery, and in every way, seeking true development. Most important of all, he told how, in spite of all the efforts of Japan to thwart her, China is still courageously continuing the struggle against opium. He saw recently, he said, a $50,000,000 fire of opium and accessories which the Chinese people had bought from foreign interests in order to destroy them. "The Chinese," Mr. Arnold added, "have no control over the foreign trade in the drug, and the only way they can weed it out is to buy the supply and destroy it." It is, of course, an international scandal that such a course should be necessary, but the fact that China is ready to take it is a remarkable illustration of her determination to be rid of the evil.

Her Only Husband

THIRD INSTALLMENT.

SHE met him at the station herself—and alone. She had insisted on that, because she thought she would be likely to cry, which, as a matter of fact, she did. Lewis put her into a taxi with drawn shades, and tearfully disposed against the shoulder of a smart gray suit, before she could reach for her handkerchief. His eyes and arms and his lips were exquisitely the same; she had been, in her breathless moments, pathetically afraid they wouldn't be. Surely, nothing in a practical, skeptical world could be the haven she remembered, of his heart beneath her cheek, his deep voice, tender and unsteady, at her ear—but it was—and memory not the half of it!

Rosy and dazed from his kiss, she pulled herself away after the first twilight block or so and laughed up at him with dew on her lashes.

"Lewis—you've got on a new suit! I adore your tie—do you like me?—I've gained two pounds—and this hat is new."

"You'll do," said Lewis. He barely allowed her to breathe between wordless demonstrations of his approval.

"Miss me, Marie-Louise?"

"O, Lewis."

"Ever going to leave me again?"

"Never—never—never!"

"Horrible, wasn't it?"

Marie-Louis shuddered closer in his arms.

"Lord—how I missed you!"

Her wonderful, inarticulate Lewis! No words wasted there—no garnishing with pretty futile phrases. A man—that was what Lewis was—a regular man!

Marie-Louise got out of the taxi with him and led him up the steps and into the parental domicile in triumph.

Mrs. Dunleavy embraced him. Trixie embraced him; Sue, the shy and drawling voiced, embraced him, even the portrait of Mr. Dunleavy, done in oils some time about the middle eighties, looked down from the wall in a kind of aloof satisfaction. Lewis was obviously the sort of young man of whom Mr. Dunleavy would thoroughly have approved, could he have lived to know him.

"Run and get ready for dinner," Mrs. Dunleavy warned them presently; "fried chicken, Marie-Louise!"

Fried chicken is the fatted calf of the South. Marie-Louise bestowed a grateful little kiss upon her mother's cheek. Now, indeed, she knew that Lewis was to be welcomed as one of the family. The dinner table was gracious with candles and flowers, heavy with edible tributes. Lewis did a Western appetite justice. By the time black coffee arrived he was firmly installed in everyone's dearest regard. Marie-Louise watched him with her happy heart on her sleeve. She could not eat—women have so little control over their emotions—but there were all the other days of her life for thinking of food.

After dinner they went back to the living room, where Sue sang to them in a delicious soft soprano voice, and Mrs. Dunleavy asked polite questions of Lewis about the West. It was a perfect evening, with Marie-Louise never more than two feet away from Lewis' arm—until Trixie, in a moment of charming exuberance overturned the applecart of fate.

"I do think, Lewis," said Trixie, "that you are the most wonderful husband—all those flowers and things! Wiring all the way here for them, too! Poor Jimmy used to turn green with jealousy."

"Now, Trixie," murmured Mrs. Dunleavy, "you have Marie-Louise alone!"

A long look passed between Lewis and Marie-Louise—surprise and question on his part, embarrassment, unfortunately, on hers. She had neglected to foresee, had Marie-Louise, the oversight, that there would be at once family conversation approving Lewis for his domestic offerings. So she said the worst thing possible under the circumstances:

"O, Trix, do hush! Don't be silly"——

"Go on, Trixie," Lewis interrupted coolly. "Tell us all about it. Who's Jimmy, and why was he jealous?"

Trixie accepted the position of oracle delightedly.

"Why, he's on old beau of Marie-Louise—he used to send her tons of flowers, himself, before she married you—and all your flowers and things coming along now—you can see him writhe!"

"O, you can see him writhe, can you?" said Lewis, inspecting the back of one hand quietly—"over all my flowers and things—that's good—anything else I ought to know, Trixie?"

Trixie said no, she thought not. She was prettily coquettish about it, and altogether unconscious of having started anything.

A little later the clock on the mantel shelf struck 10 and Mrs. Dunleavy said that Lewis was probably tired from his trip and would like to go to bed.

Lewis said yes, thanks, he thought he would, and the family separated for the night.

Marie-Louise went up the stairs, with Lewis just behind her, feeling a little like a criminal and a good deal like injured innocence. She cast about desperately for the neatest form of explanation that should be convincing and truthful at the same time, but before she arrived at it the bedroom door opened and closed and she found herself standing with her back against the pretty frivolous dressing table of her pre-marital days facing a Lewis she had never seen before—a chill, impartial Lewis, with an incongruous flush rising beneath his clean, bronzed skin. Marie-Louise had never been jealous in her life. She knew none of the symptoms beyond a flattering if trivial annoyance, or she might have saved trouble by an immediate laying of all her cards upon the table.

As it was, she flushed faintly in her turn and returned Lewis' look with her head high. This, she considered, was a fine way for an only husband to comport himself within the first 12 hours of reacquiring a wife.

"Marie-Louise," said Lewis grimly, "I didn't send you any flowers."

"I reckon I know that," observed Marie-Louise, with almost a touch of sarcasm. It sat oddly upon her lovely, tremulous mouth.

"Then who the devil did?" inquired Lewis, displaying what he believed to be extraordinary self-control in the face of incredible provocation.

"Is that the way you ask me?"

"I shouldn't have to ask you at all. I don't have to ask you." Lewis' face was burning now, his hands were shaking. He was swept with that flame than which there is no more exquisite agony, and for the soothing of which reason availeth not. "Everyone but me seems to know all about it—your friend Jimmy, of course."

"Jimmy!" cried Marie-Louise. She broke into a high, unsteady laugh. Her nerves had been strung fairly tight that day.

"Yes, Jimmy!"

"O, Lewis—you're too absurd!"

"I remember him—he was in love with you when I first met you."

"If he was, I'm proud of it—Jimmy was always sweet to me—he'd never have talked to me like—like t-this!"

"O-o, Lewis!"

"Here I've been, like a fool, sitting at home night after night, mooning over your picture, carrying your letters around in my pocket—thinking you cared as much as I did—making a thundering ass of myself—for your sake—and all the time Jimmy was keeping you supplied with—'flowers and things'—to such an extent that you had to tell your family they came from me—to keep 'em from asking questions, I suppose. Marie-Louise, I hate a lie."

"Won't you?"

"I never thought we'd have to come to an understanding on that subject, so soon—God!" said Lewis huskily, and turned away from her as a man turns from something no longer lovely to look upon.

Marie-Louise began to cry. She put up her hands to her eyes, but the tears ran over her fingers, and though she cried very quietly it shook her slim white shoulders and made a pitiful sound in the quiet rosy-curtained room.

Presently, still crying, she went over to her desk and began to rummage in it.

"I'm not," said Marie-Louise.

She selected two or three sheets of paper from a femininely crowded pigeonhole and carried them to where Lewis stood staring down into the empty fireplace, his face hard and a little gray.

"Look," said Marie-Louise.

Lewis looked.

"Read it out loud," she told him.

He read, still without turning:

"Mrs. Lewis Galloway: To the Garden Flower Shop, debtor: One violet and gardenia corsage, $5; one dozen roses, $10; six orchids, $12." What in the name of"——

She gave him the other two bills as well—the one for the box of crystallized fruit and that for the yellow roses and orchids. "You see, they are all my bills," she said, "and they have all been paid. They are receipted."

"You sent flowers to yourself?" said Lewis stupidly. "Why—in the name"——

"Because," said Marie-Louise, clearly and coldly, "my family thought you should have sent me—something—every once in a while—and you didn't—and I couldn't bear to have them think"——

It was she who turned away then. She ran to the coquettish ivory bed and flung herself face down upon it, sobbing as if her heart would break. Lewis followed with unbelievable swiftness. Her tears were on his cheek in no time at all.

"My little angel!" he muttered brokenly. "O, Marie-Louise—you adorable baby"—— That was a wild flight for Lewis. It flushed him to the eyebrows, but he got it out somehow.

"You see," stammered Marie-Louise presently, with a long, delicious sigh, "I knew you loved me—but they didn't—and I couldn't bear for them not—to understand—and that was the only way—they could understand—and I won't have you—sniffed at!"

"Tomorrow morning," he told her, and now it was miraculously her old Lewis back again, "we are going downtown together and I am going to buy you a ring or a pin or something, that will make your precious family get up on its hind legs and paw the air—what do you say?"

"O, Lewis, you're so Western!" murmured Marie-Louise with the ghost of a giggle.

"Well, I swear to you, on my honor as a native son," said Lewis humbly, with his cheek against her soft brown hair, "that you shall never have to buy yourself a flower again!"

And she didn't—but she sometimes had to do without them, because one may, if one is agile, whitewash a leopard, but it is impossible, on the best zoological authority to change the creature's spots.

Are Red-Haired Women Different?

Helen of Troy.

FROM the time of Helen of Troy through the ages, the charm of red-haired women has been brewing more mischief than that of all the other sorts of women put together. At least that is what some writers seem to think. It is a very usual opinion to hold that red-haired women are the possessors of a certain sort of fascination never found in other types of women. They are supposed to be more ardent and more vivacious—in fact, more deadly attractive to men. So it is that red-hair dye from the days of Cleopatra—who some people insist must have been red-headed, though there is no proof of the fact save that she acted like a red-haired woman—in all ages red-hair dye has been in demand than other sorts. Apparently the idea is that if you cannot have the ardor and the charm of a red-haired woman you can at least have the red hair that will make you look as if you had the attributes that go with it.

Titian hair wasn't naturally auburn or red hair at all. It was dyed hair. But in spite of their brilliant tresses, "Titian's women remained dark-skinned Italians with black langorous eyes."

And we are told the celebrated adventuress, Du Barry—who, by the way, never used rouge—achieved her auburn hair by artificial means, and that it was black to begin with; and yet Du Barry stands out as a popular example of the red-haired woman—and the actress who made Du Barry famous among theatergoers in this country—Mrs. Leslie Carter—was regarded as especially suited to the task because she had red hair—and a red-haired woman's temperament.

Madame Corday was a real red-haired or auburn-haired woman who at least had all the ardor of her type, though we may think that she misapplied it when she dealt even so miserable a creature as Marat his death blow. Thackeray's famous Becky Sharp was another red-haired character—though she was of the type that we call "sandy," and she had green eyes.

Then there was Victor Hugo's Cosette, who is perhaps the most celebrated romantic feminine character of last century French literature. Everyone who has ever read "Les Miserables" knows how completely she captivated the young Marius almost at first sight; and she had "wonderful auburn hair tinted with threads of gold."

HOME ECONOMIES

By Mrs. Elizabeth Kent.

HOME-MADE TOYS.

"NO everything," is the common phrase on a mother's lips, of the child below kindergarten age. It is a great thing if the mother realizes what an important part of his training it is, and gives him the right "everything" to keep him busy.

Home-made toys are really best of all in many ways. The big soft rag doll, or the teddy-bear, with clothes that can be buttoned and unbuttoned, is the best teacher for little hands that need to learn to dress themselves. Empty card board boxes, spools and colored paper afford an infinite variety of amusement and entertainment, and if they are judiciously chosen for size, shape, color and judicious hints are given for their use, in making carts, cars, dolls, furniture, or boats, with scissors, string and paste, a child's ingenuity can be developed to a surprising degree. Give him but the least start in the way of using his abilities and he will soon go ahead for himself. A child who can so entertain himself, with a few simple aids of material and suggestion is a joy to himself and to others. He is laying a sure foundation for a happy and useful life, in which he will never be at a loss for something to do.

The essential thing in providing for a child's activities is an opportunity for construction. The destructive tendency is really only curiosity, and is easily changed into its desirable converse, construction. Show a child how a thing goes, how it is put together whenever you can. Satisfy his craving for that knowledge. But also teach him respect for things by helping him to see for himself what it means to make them.

In an effort to break the high cost of wearing apparel, the women in Australia have organized and are boycotting such articles of wear as hats, gloves and shoes until the prices are reduced.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Old Mister Trouble Gets Jimmy Skunk

If you, your true friends wish to know
Get into trouble; that will show.

NOBODY wants anything to do with old Mister Trouble. Of course not. Everybody tries to duck out of his way when they see him coming. But more often than not they don't see him coming until it is too late. That this is so usually is their own fault. Everybody is bound to meet old Mister Trouble sooner or later. If you never have met him you surely will. Very likely he'll take you by surprise. He likes to do that. He does it every chance he gets. But when he goes get you you may be sure that he'll do you one great favor—he'll show you just who your true friends are, and, sometimes, it is worth meeting him just to find that out.

Jimmy Skunk is such an independent little fellow and so used to having everybody he meets politely step aside for him to pass that he is rather careless. He seems to expect to be left alone even by old Mister Trouble. That is where he makes a mistake. Old Mister Trouble doesn't leave anybody alone. Jimmy found that out when he heedlessly walked right into a trap. Old Mister Trouble had him then!

Reddy Fox wouldn't have stepped into that trap. Neither would Old Man Coyote nor Billy Mink. Either of them would have been suspicious the instant he smelled the bait. But Jimmy is so used to being left alone and going where he pleases when he pleases that he isn't a bit suspicious. When he smelled that bait he walked right up to help himself. Snap! A pair of cruel, steel jaws had him by a leg!

My, how it did hurt! Jimmy squealed right out with the pain. He tried to pull his leg free, but soon found that there wasn't the least chance of doing that and that it only added to his pain. So, wisely, he stopped pulling and lay down to think things over and wait for what would happen next. There isn't anything more frightful than being caught in a trap. At the same time Jimmy was angry. He knew that that trap had been set by an enemy and that that enemy was one of those two-legged creatures called men. His nose told him that. There was some of the man smell on that trap. Jimmy knew that whoever had set it would come back to it, and he made up his mind that he would use that little scent gun of his the instant he had a chance.

It was early in the evening that Jimmy was caught in that trap. All night he lay there. He hardly moved, which was very wise of him. After a while the leg grew numb, so that he no longer felt the pain much. But he suffered in his mind. There is nothing worse than the feeling of being wholly helpless. That was the longest night Jimmy ever had known. Of course, it really wasn't any longer than many other nights, but to poor Jimmy it seemed like a hundred nights rolled into one.

At last, jolly, round, red Mr. Sun began his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky. He was well started on that long climb when Jimmy heard a whistle. It was the whistle of Farmer Brown's boy, and it came nearer and nearer. At the sound of it a dreadful suspicion flashed into Jimmy's head. Could it be that Farmer Brown's boy had set that trap for him? Could it be: Jimmy gritted his teeth.

"He'll wish he hadn't before I'm through with him," growled Jimmy. "He'll wish he hadn't. He may kill me; probably he will. But before he does he'll be sorry he ever set this trap. And I thought he was my friend! You can't trust these men creatures. You can't trust one of them."

Then, as Farmer Brown's boy was very near, Jimmy got to his feet and prepared to use his little scent gun, of which everybody, including man, is afraid.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN

Under the terms of the will of Mrs. Tom Thumb, all her home furnishings will be placed in museums. The collection is said to include the smallest practical furniture in use.

One of Boston's most successful sign painters is a woman, Mrs. Orissa M. Lovering, who in addition to doing expert work with the brush herself, runs a sign shop where eight men are employed.

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND.

DISCRETION" is what suddenly comes to a man, when the game or the girl has begun to bore him.

The trouble with marriage is that most men have come to look upon it as a load rather than a lodestar, and most girls to regard it as just a little "detour" along the highway to success.

Love is one long struggle for a man! He fights first to win a woman; then to prove he loves her; then to prove he's right; then—just to forget; and last, to escape from her!

After a few years, a married man is so used to acting on the defensive, that if his wife utters a protest when she steps on a tack, he calls it nagging."

Every youth thinks he could accomplish a lot at college if his studies didn't interfere—and a lot in business, if work didn't take up all his time.

"Thanks was right!" confided an undoughboy to me the other day. "There's only one way to handle women. Grab 'em young—treat 'em rough—and tell 'em nothin'!" Oh, well—I wonder!

The average husband wants to "take the land"—but he put up an awful protest if you ask him to run the lawn mower over it.

A man takes a woman's love for granted—but a woman wants daily bulletins of a man's sentimental temperature. His protests may be fair and warm today, but unless they are "fair and warmer" tomorrow, she will think he no longer loves her.

Youth: That rainbow-tinted period, when a man can't decide whether a kiss is an amusement, an adventure, a risk, a sin, a luxury, or a sacrament.

If "scientific salesmanship is selling a suit of clothes to a man who comes in, intending to buy a collar," what IS making a man give you a wedding ring when he only intended to give you a kiss?

It doesn't do a flapper any good to see a stage vampire suffer for her sins, when the star wears a gown that any girl would be glad to suffer and die in!

Clothes—And the Woman.
They have shortened our skirts ad lib.

Uncommon Sense

Don't Be Afraid to Help Others.

By John Blake.

THE busiest man can find time to be helpful. The most determined man can without harm to himself, stop now and then to help others on the way up.

Few successful men there are who have not done much for their fellows. The race for success is hot and hard, but there are always times when others can be lifted from the roadside and put back on their feet.

Hard indeed is the man who will not offer a word of advice or encouragement to a brother bound the same way.

There is little enough kindness in the world, but that is not the fault of its great men.

Read biography and you will discover that practically all those who attained high places in the world were glad to give others a hand on their way.

The old, the weak, the ill need help, as a matter of course. They need more than they receive, although the world is learning, day by day, better to provide for them.

But the young need help, too. They need to be told of the dangers that wait on ahead and how to avoid them. They need the lessons that the more successful can give them, and above all they need encouragement when they get "in the dumps" as the young are prone to do.

You will never be so poor or so unsuccessful that you cannot afford to be kind. Your way to prosperity will never be so hard that you will not have opportunity to speak a cheering word or do a kindly deed to others who need your help.

It is well enough to be determined to succeed, to be devoted to the achievement of success. But he who climbs to the top over the backs of his fellows gains a price not worth having, and lives and dies, mean, selfish and despised—a life that no decent man would wish his deadliest enemy.

Do not be kind because it pays dividends. Do not be helpful because you expect to profit by it. Be kind because you WANT to be kind, and your life will be happy and your old age filled with contentment.

When It Comes to Selecting a National League Flag Winner, Watch Pittsburg's Smoke

Sothoron to Hurl Opening Contest For the Browns

PIRATES ARRIVE FOR OPENING DAY CONTEST

THE Pittsburg Pirates, opponents of the Cardinals in tomorrow's opening day contest, arrived here this morning and are quartered at the Buckingham Hotel.

Manager Gibson's team is reported in fine physical condition, except for Barbare, who was injured and who will be replaced tomorrow by Caton.

Catcher Schmidt, who has not reported owing to a controversy with the management over financial matters, has finally consented to report. He may join the club here during the present series.

Adams or Cooper, with the odds favoring the latter, are the possible pitchers tomorrow. The Pirates come here with a fine outfield, a good catching department, a fair infield and a fine pitching staff. Supporters of the club expect it to finish well up in the race.

Manager Jimmy Burke and a squad of 23 Brownie players departed last night for Cleveland, where the local American Leaguers are scheduled to start the 1920 pennant struggle tomorrow. When the Browns take the field in the Forest City, Burke will have an entirely veteran nine to battle the Indians, who are picked by a majority of critics to land the pennant in the Johnson circuit.

Allan Sothoron, who had great success in the clashes he twirled against Speaker's aggregation last year, was nominated by Burke as first choice to fling the opener. Urban Shocker, the spitballer, is second choice.

Nine Pitchers Make Trip.

Although the Browns will return here April 22 to open the American League season in St. Louis against the Indians, Manager Burke took along nine pitchers, they being Sothoron, Shocker, Gallia, Davis, Burwell, Bayne, Leifield, Leverette and Vangilder.

The other tossers in the party were: Austin, Gedeon, Gerber, Sisler, Schepner, Shovlin and Thompson, infielders; Tobin, Williams, Jacobson and Smith, outfielders, and Severeid, Billings and Collins, catchers.

Six tossers were left at home in charge of Scout Billy Friel. They are Pitchers Weilman, who reported only a week ago; Sanders, Richmond and Schneider and Infielders Lee and Strong.

At present the local American Leaguers have 29 players on their roster and in order to cut down to the limit of 25 by May 15, only four tossers will have to be released. It is the present intention of Manager Burke to carry the full allowance.

Doak to Oppose Pirates.

Bill Doak, the spitball artist, and Vernon Clemons, portly catcher, undoubtedly will be the Cardinal battery tomorrow afternoon when the Rickeymen open the National League race against the Pittsburg Pirates. The Cardinal lineup will be the same as opposed the Browns Sunday. Heathcote will be in right field, Shotton in center and McHenry in left. Johnny Lavan will operate at short, with Harold Janvrin ready to fill in if the Doctor's lame arm bothers him. Janvrin was hit on the elbow by a pitched ball in the second game of the spring series, but the former Red Sox star has recovered. Fournier will be at first base, Hornsby at second and Milton Stock at third.

Three more heads were lopped off yesterday. Lloyd Silcott of Boulder, Colo., who came to the Cardinals from Aberdeen, in the Northwestern League, departed last night for Houston, Texas League. Pitcher Bill Bolden was sent to Kansas City, American Association, and Jimmy McLaughlin, South St. Louis boy whose recently announced trip to Memphis fell through, will be sent to Peoria, Three-I League.

CEREMONIOUS OPENING ARRANGED BY CARDINALS

The Cardinal management today announced several features which would add to the festivity of the opening tomorrow afternoon. Mayor Kiel has been invited to participate and has intimated that he will test his control by throwing the first ball over the plate.

Two bands will be present, one of them being the Jefferson Barracks Military Band. Soldiers from the barracks also will stand guard mount prior to the opening of play. Umpires Klem and Emslie will officiate, play to start at 3 p. m.

WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNEY TO BE AWARDED THURSDAY

A meeting will be held Thursday night to award the 1920 women's State championship golf tournament to one of the local clubs. It is believed that the play will be awarded to either the St. Louis Country Club or the Algonquin Golf Club.

This competition will be held June 15-19, at the same time that the men's state tourney is in progress at the Sunset Hill Club. The president of the Missouri Golf Association is Bonaar Miller of the Triple A, formerly secretary of the organization.

Forecasts, Wise and Otherwise, of Probable Outcome in the 1920 Big League Pennant Campaigns

Many Kind Words Said for Reds, Tigers and Indians by Persons Who Ought to Know—Little Comment Heard as to Local Clubs' Chances of Capturing Flag.

By John E. Wray.

ON the eve of opening day baseball clairvoyants are tuning up with their usual loquacity, regardless of what an awful shock to their pride they might receive if they flipped back the files and compared previous prognostications with results.

"Not even close," would be the verdict on many occasions. The various club managers, this year, are stepping out with more freedom than formerly. Owing to the large number of interleague practice series played, leaders have gained an idea of the strength of rival league clubs. The result has been that some National Leaguers are picking American League winners—and vice versa—with all the recklessness of a man who has seen only one club out of eight.

Following are a few opinions expressed by baseball men qualified as authorities on the subject of pennant winners:

"My ball club looks good to me. It is the same lineup as last year and the players should improve with age. I know we will have a tough time, with all the other clubs fighting us, but they can't put us down. Our pitching staff is intact, ditto the infield, catchers and outfield. The men know my system and will have a successful year.

"A big point to be considered is the strength of our substitute material. Sam Crane, the utility infielder, is one of the best fielders and base runners in the business. True, he can't hit very well, but his defensive strength more than makes up for it. Charley See, who was purchased from Rochester last year, is developing rapidly and should be a star. He will be used as a substitute outfielder, with Pat Duncan, Roush and Neale. Every man is satisfied, he received the salary he asked for and we have the highest salaried club in the league."

It may be added that there has been some criticism of the Reds' training. The team has been dined, not to say wined by its hosts in the South, if reports are true. The club is said to be behind in condition and not ready to make a quick getaway.

By GEORGE STALLINGS, Manager of the Boston Braves.

Manager Stallings had a good chance to view the Detroit Tigers, his club having taken part in a series with the Tigers. Of the American League Stallings says:

"In my mind, things look very rosy for Detroit in the American League. The Tigers' pitching staff looks much stronger than it did last year. Dauss, Ehmke, Ayres, Love appear ready right now. Bush is in shape, which was not the case at the beginning of the 1919 season.

"The Tigers always do hit, of course. If they can master the bunting game in addition to their natural slugging strength, I should say they will be the most dangerous offensive club in the league."

Stallings is not alone in figuring the Tigers to have a grand chance. Harry Sallee, Heine Groh and Larry Kopf of the world's champions figure they will probably have to meet the Tigers in a world's series, according to opinions expressed to Cincinnati scribes. Perhaps the wish is father to the thought, with the Redlegs.

By KID GLEASON, Manager of Champion White Sox.

"Don't discount the Sox' chances. Everybody appears to be overlooking the fact that I have practically the same strength to my attack as last year, while the world's series uncovered to me the full strength of Pitcher Dick Kerr. It is like finding another regular pitcher.

"Another fact—Faber is a $25,000 man now. He has completely regained all his ability, and I look for him to take his regular turn on his best form."

Everybody is depreciating the Sox—that is a fact. And if Gleason's statement about Faber is correct, depreciating the Sox will be a grave error. The club looks better than the broken Yankees, despite the addition of Babe Ruth.

The Yankees have suffered some terrible misfortunes. Miller Huggins is too sick at heart to discuss them much; but the loss of Fewster and Pratt and Baker has hurt him vitally. Shore came through the other day with a nicely pitched game and that is about the only encouraging glint on the Huggins horizon.

By TRIS SPEAKER, Manager of the Cleveland Indians.

"It looks as if the boys are all making it tough for me, predicting I will win the pennant, but I do think I have a gang that can do it, barring a lot of bad luck.

"I've got a bunch hustling for me. That I am sure of. I know we are pretty strong. It looks as if the pitching staff will be all right. My lefthanders may make some mistakes, but I think I have a couple who will be ready for their turns. My team will be ready when the bell rings."

Cleveland is the favored team of the experts, this year—therefore its a good thing to "copper." Cleveland had many fine pennant chances since 1875, when the Forest City broke into the circle, but has never been able to deliver. This may be the year; but competition will be keen. The club is well balanced throughout and, if Tris Speaker regains his best batting form, have your tickets ready to cash.

By ED BARROW, Manager of the Boston Red Sox.

"I haven't much to say about my team. The training trip with the Giants found us unprepared and weakened and I have not been able to bolster up my team. The Giants were further advanced than we were. McGraw has a fine pitching staff and looks like a potential pennant winner, if the Reds falter in the least. Poor weather retarded my pitchers, but we will be going before the season is very far along. I am not predicting any winners." The Red Sox have literally been sold out by their owner, Harry Frazee. The team is greatly weakened and will probably make a dismal showing.

St. Louis Clubs Well Liked.

The Browns have received favorable mention from many sources and are uniformly regarded as the "dark horse" of the coming canter. Nobody favors the Athletics as a possibility; but the Browns have been variously picked to land anywhere from fifth to first position.

Everybody is naming the Giants to finish one-two this year, although John McGraw is silent. His wonderful pitching staff of five regulars appears even stronger than the pitchers of the Reds. His infield has lost two soured veterans and really should be an improvement.

The National League race is so open, however, that few predictions have been made by competent authorities on the finish of the various clubs. The Cardinals are given a chance, provided they can show four or five big league hurlers. Compliments as to the rest of the club are numerous.

Tomorrow's Opening Schedule and Umpires

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Browns at Cleveland. Umpires: Evans and Hildebrand.

Washington at Boston. Umpires: Connolly and Moriarty.

SHOCKER AND GALLIA TO BE BROWNS' SPITBALL HURLERS THIS SEASON

CLEVELAND, O., April 13.—Only 16 American League pitchers are eligible to use the "spitball" during the 1920 season, President B. B. Johnson announced here last night previous to departure for New York.

Cleveland has nominated Coveleskie and Caldwell; Chicago, Cicotte and Faber; Detroit, Leonard and Ayers; St. Louis, Shocker and Gallia; New York, Quinn, and Boston, Russell.

Neither Philadelphia nor Washington made any nomination, which means that neither of these clubs has a pitcher eligible under the new rule adopted at the February league meeting in Chicago.

STOCKHOLDERS OF REDS WANT LARGER DIVIDEND

CINCINNATI, O., April 13.—Cincinnati baseball club stockholders yesterday at a meeting voiced a demand for season passes to Redland Field and for larger dividends. The directors recently tabled a request by stockholders for a return of the pass system and for increased dividends.

Wright to Try for Team.

Purd Wright, the former Kansas City high-school star, has decided to come out for the Washington University track team. Wright had announced several weeks ago that studies would prevent his athletic activities. Wright ran last Saturday against Rolla, and showed splendid form in the mile relay. However, his lack of training was evident. Coach Castleman considers him a valuable asset to the squad.

Vassar Adopts Baseball.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 13.—So great is the interest in baseball at Vassar College this spring that it is likely that the Athletic Association will make the game a major sport to rank with hockey and basketball. Practice is already under way for the student faculty game which has become an annual spring athletic feature at the college.

Dee Walsh Sold to Frisco.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 13.—Manager Elberfeld of the Little Rock (Southern Association) club yesterday announced the purchase of First Baseman Pete Adams from the Tulsa club of the Western League and the sale of Third Baseman Dee Walsh to the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League. Walsh refused to report here.

Walker Breaks Record.

DAYTONA, Fla., April 13.—Gene Walker of Birmingham broke the world's record for motor cycles on the beach here yesterday, covering one mile in 31.72 seconds. Efforts to break the automobile speed records of Ralph de Palma and Barney Oldfield will be made here Thursday by Tommy Milton.

Zulu Kid, Beaten By Jimmy Wilde, Stays 10 Rounds

DETROIT, Mich., April 13.—Jimmy Wilde, British flyweight champion, tried every blow in his fistic repertory in an endeavor to flatten Zulu Kid at the Windsor Armory last night, but all in vain. The Brooklyn bantam, in the best of physical condition, was bound to stick the 10 rounds and stick he did.

Wilde endeavored to complete his job with as much neatness and dispatch as possible and started out with a bang that nearly swept the Zulu off his feet. Jimmy, with 1500 howling Canadians yelling encouragement, jabbed with his left on nose and mouth to open proceedings. The Kid responded feebly with rights to the body, to be met in return with hard lefts and rights to the chin. Wilde opened up the second with hard rights in the stomach, and in an early exchange, as the Kid was going away, overhauled him with a left hook to the jaw that sent him to the canvas for the count of nine.

When he arose the Briton met him on the ropes and hammered away with gay abandon, the Kid covering up in his groggy state most effectually to escape a knockout. From the beginning of the third to the end of the sixth the Kid made it strictly a defensive scrap so far as he was concerned.

The tenth and last round found Wilde moving at a swift gait and sending in hard punches on face and body, with scarcely a blow in return. The Kid had the clinch trick down to a nicety through constant practice, and was on his feet defending himself as best he knew how when the bell sounded.

While Wilde had an easier time with the Zulu for half a dozen rounds than he did with Mason at Toledo recently, the Brooklyn fighter forced the Briton harder in the last four rounds than did the Fort Wayne flyweight.

COACH WORKS OF PIKERS TO BE HONORED TONIGHT

Members of the Washington University baseball squad will hold a farewell gathering in compliment to Ralph Works, their coach, at the home of Monty Lyon, tonight. Works leaves the Pikeway this week to assume his duties as a manager in South Dakota.

Rain soaked the Francis Field to such an extent yesterday that practice was impossible. However, the collegians will start preparation for the Ames games this afternoon. It is likely that Metz will be returned to the infield, and Wyman, who had replaced him at shortstop, will be given a chance in the outfield.

PROFANITY BARRED IN A. A. DURING CAMPAIGN

CHICAGO, April 13.—Profanity on the baseball fields will not be tolerated in the American Association this season, President Hickey told his staff of umpires at a conference here today preliminary to the opening of the season tomorrow.

The umpires were instructed to order any player or manager off the field at the first offense and to report subsequent violations to President Hickey, who said he intended to fine and perhaps suspend the offending player.

STECHER AND LEWIS WIN IN MAT MATCHES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 13.—Joe Stecher, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, successfully defended his title here last night by throwing Ivan Padoubney, Esthonian champion, in two straight falls. He won the first fall in 50 minutes with body scissors and bar arm hold and the second in 14 minutes with body scissors and double arm lock.

In a preliminary match, Ed "Strangler" Lewis scored two straight falls on Tommy Draak of Holland, winning the first in 48 minutes with a headlock and the second in 8 minutes with a double wristlock.

CADDOCK WINS FINISH MATCH FROM W. ZBYSZKO

DES MOINES, Ia., April 13.—Earl Caddock won a finish wrestling match from Wladek Zbyszko last night in two straight falls.

Caddock gained the first fall in 1:56:10, with a head scissors and wrist lock, and the second with a head scissors and wrist lock in 1m. 56s.

Haase to Attend Chicago.

Wray Brown and Walter Haase, the youthful holders of the city doubles tennis championship, will not be partners in local court competition this summer. Haase will attend the University of Chicago summer session, and consequently will be unable to compete in local matches from early June until late in August. Only in the late tourneys of the season will the two be able to work together.

Old Songs Made New.

JUST a little sunshine,
Just a little rain,
Just a little happiness,
Just a little pain.
Just a little blizzard,
Just a little snow,
Makes the great spring series,
To which the rooters go.

HOT STOVE STUFF.

The spring series between the Browns and Cards should be for the championship of the Winter League.

The series was an atmospheric and artistic frost, but a financial success.

The Cards were beaten but not disgraced. Every time Rickey led an ace Burke would trump it with a two-spot.

TOUGH SLEDDING.

WITH potatoes one-fifty per peck,
Another extortion,
Makes pretty tough sledding, by heck!

Pete Herman and Pal Moore have been matched to box 15 rounds to a decision on May 30. Indicating that all of the second string bantams have dropped dead.

Of course the probabilities point to a draw but accidents are liable to happen and a punched meal ticket is a total loss.

According to the latest betting on the pennant the Phillies are quoted at 30 to 1 and Cards at 100 to 1.

And if this be gambling make the most of it.

Cards Quoted at 100 to 1, Browns 10 to 1, in Betting

Local "Layers of Odds" List Indians and Yankees at 3 to 1, Reds and Giants at 2½ to 1.

The Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees in the American League and the Cincinnati Reds and New York Giants in the National are the favorites to win the major league pennants, according to figures supplied by a local "layer of odds" on the baseball races. The Indians and Yankees are quoted at 3 to 1, and the Reds and Giants at 2½ to 1.

The Chicago White Sox, champions in the Ban Johnson circuit, are listed at 4-1, the same price which is being laid on the Detroit Tigers.

One of the peculiarities is that the Phillies are rated ahead of the Cardinals in the National League. Despite the fact that Branch Rickey has added Fournier to his lineup and has hitting and fielding strength, the only weak spot being the pitching staff, the Knot-holers are quoted at 100 to 1, the same as the Boston Braves, and the Phillies at 30 to 1.

In the American League, Jimmy Burke's club is listed at 10 to 1, while the Boston Red Sox, who have been almost entirely wrecked by the sale of "Babe" Ruth, not to mention the loss of Carl Mays and Oscar Vitt and Wally Schang, two stars, who are holdouts, are 8-to-1 choices. While Ed Barrow has uncertainties in almost every department, Burke will be carrying a veteran club, one which played together for the greater part of 1919.

CLUB.	Odds.
Cleveland	3 to 1
New York	3 to 1
Chicago	4 to 1
Detroit	4 to 1
Boston	8 to 1
Browns	10 to 1
Washington	50 to 1
Philadelphia	100 to 1

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Cincinnati	2½ to 1
New York	2¼ to 1
Chicago	3 to 1
Pittsburg	10 to 1
Brooklyn	10 to 1

Cardinals	100 to 1
Boston	100 to 1

WERDER AND FEUCHT GO INTO LEAD IN DOUBLES OF CITY PIN TOURNEY

The M. Longos, with a total of 2844, including a handicap of 111 pins, rolled into second place in the handicap division of the city bowling tournament on the Washington alleys last night. The Heiberts, 2698, took third in the scratch division. Dan Schierbaum, with a total of 582, did the heavy work for the Longos, while Weiss, 583, was high man for the Heiberts.

Fred A. Hesse aided by a handicap of 42 pins totaled 661 and went into third place in the handicap singles, while Al Werder, 568, took third in the scratch.

NEW YORK, April 13.

JAY GOULD of the Philadelphia Tennis and Racquet Club, who has held the national amateur court tennis championship for several years, successfully defended his title in the challenge round of this year's tournament at the New York Racquet and Tennis Club yesterday. He defeated the challenger, J. Sayda Cutting of the Home Club, in three straight sets, 6—3, 6—0, 6—1.

Fox Knocked Out By Young Chaney

HARTFORD, Conn., April 13.—Young Chaney of Baltimore, surprised pugilistic followers here by dropping Joey Fox, featherweight champion of England for a knockout, in the fifth round of their encounter, last night. It was the first time Fox had ever been knocked off his feet, according to friends of Fox.

FIVE AMATEUR BOUTS AT SOUTHERN TONIGHT

Five amateur bouts will make up the program of the Southern A. C. show to be staged at the Carondelet Turner Hall tonight. The clash between Morris Mickey and Joe Julius at 133 pounds promises to be the feature. Eddie Randall will referee the contests, with Judge Hall and Judge Taylor as judges.

The card:

Tom Corey, Northwest Athletic Club, vs. Harry Roth, South Broadway Athletic Club. Weight, 142 pounds.

Miller Named Umpire.

Hughie Miller, who played first base for the St. Louis Federal League club under Fielder Jones, has signed to umpire in the Texas League the coming season. Miller departed last night of Fort Worth, Tex., to receive his opening day assignment.

Macklin and Cole Meet Tonight at South Broadway

Pete, Who Has Defeated Local Semi-Windup Boxers, Makes Debut as Headliner.

Pete Macklin, rugged local [illegible] pounder, who has defeated all [illegible] semi-windup boxers in the city [illegible] ing the indoor boxing season, [illegible] graduate into a main-event [illegible] night at the South Broadway A. [illegible] when he takes on Billy Cole in a feature eight-round bout. Macklin has been one of the busiest mitt men in the city, and has never failed to please.

When Macklin goes against Cole he will be meeting a boy who probably knows more about the fine points of the game than any of Pete's previous rivals. However, Cole, in past bouts in this city, has been a great starter but poor finisher. On the other hand, Macklin is better as the bout progresses.

It will be Cole's first bout in St. Louis since he was defeated by Jack McMullin at the Coliseum several months ago.

Another clash that promises to be an interesting one is that between Patsy Flannagan and Stanley Everett. It will mark Flannagan's first appearance in a long time, and Everett is picking no setup, as Everett has met some of the best boys in the bantam division and is able to give and take a punch. The last battle here was with the veteran Eddie Meier. Flannagan, when fighting regularly, looked like a comer.

Alexander to Face Reds.

CINCINNATI, April 13.—The Chicago National League baseball team arrived in Cincinnati last night to be contenders with the champion Cincinnati Reds in the opening game of the National League season tomorrow. Manager Fred Mitchell announced last night Alexander probably will be the pitching in the opener, with Tyler lefter behind the bat. Rustler Wingo probably will be the battery for the champions.

Yale Team Elects Captain.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 13.—Thomas Campbell of Chicago, member of the American indoor record for 600-yard run, last night was appointed captain of the Yale freshman track team.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 13.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"The incidents of real importance in today's financial markets were the sharp recovery in exchange on London and the Continent, the engagement of more than $15,000,000 gold for export to South America and a 10-per-cent rate for call money. The stock market moved uncertainly in response to these varying influences and to the conflicting views of the course of the railway strike. Some stocks declined while others were advancing and the market as a whole changed its direction frequently; but the general trend was firm at the close.

"The renewed tension in money rates partly reflected the Government's prospective borrowings and the high prevailing rates were a not unnatural reflection of the advance in the Treasury's rate for short-term borrowings to 5 and 5¼ per cent, as against 4¾ per cent in the latest operation of the kind. The same tendency is visible in the high interest rate announced for new bond issues of railway and industrial companies. Some of these, put out by corporations in high standing, make an actual bid of more than 7 per cent for which there is no precedent since the seven or eight year period following our Civil War.

More Gold for Argentina.

"The $15,350,000 additional gold reported today as engaged for export to Argentina brought the total of withdrawals made for that market during the week to date to $24,450,000. This offset in very substantial measure the $31,000,000 gold received at New York from London last week. It will bring out total export of gold to Argentina thus far in 1920 to approximately $130,000,000; against which our market may set the imports during the same period of $51,000,000 from England and something more than $11,000,000 from Canada. That our exchange on Buenos Aires has been steadily at the gold export point, the daily exchange tables have shown. What has not been so fully understood is the fact that the actual balance of merchandise trade with Argentina has been running so heavily against the United States, as of itself to explain an outward movement of gold.

"The latest official returns are those covering February and the eight months then completed of the Government's fiscal year. In those eight months of the year before the war, we exported to Argentina more goods by $10,000,000 than we imported from her, and the export surplus was larger still in other pre-war years. In the same eight-month period a year ago we imported $27,000,000 more than we exported, and in the eight months ending with last February, the import surplus was no less than $72,300,000. There has lately, in fact, been a very large increase in our import of certain Argentine raw materials; in this same period, for instance, $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 more worth of hides and skins have come to us from that country than the year before.

"There are the sufficiently obvious reasons for the large export of gold, just as our wholly unprecedented import of rubber from India has been the immediate cause for the recent outflow of gold and silver from the United States to that country. It is essential to keep these trade facts in mind when the talk is current of our exporting gold to South America 'on England's account.' England also has accumulated large obligations in her trade with Argentina, as in her trade with us. But London could neither pay her Argentine obligations by drawing on our stock of gold, or by sending gold to New York in lieu of New York gold shipments to Buenos Aires, unless our own exchange rates and our own trade with Argentina were such as to make gold exports from here a commercial necessity.

Sudden Decline in Mark.

"In the foreign exchange market today's movements were extremely irregular. Sterling after selling at $3.92¼, advanced to $3.93¾, while the rate on France and Italy moved sharply in favor of those markets, for the first time since the middle of March. Exchange on Berlin declined suddenly to 1⅞ cents per mark as against 2 cents at yesterday's close. The Reichsbank's cabled statement showed an expansion in the currency of $660,000,000 in two weeks. It is now $1,000,000,000 greater than a month ago."

Money and Exchange.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 13.—There was an abrupt change in tone and tendency in the foreign exchange market, the direct result of cables from London. Sharp rallies in French and Italian lire checks, which sold yesterday at 26.72, advancing to 24, and checks on Paris moving up to 16.25, against a low of 17.27 yesterday. German was weak in the early trading, marks cables falling to 1.67 against a high of 2.01 yesterday, but in the afternoon there were few offerings and the sale advanced to above 1.90. Sterling was stronger, demand moving up 2½ to $3.92.

Today's latest prices of exchange on all the principal foreign markets were as follows: Sterling (dollars per pound), demand, $3.93¾; cables, $3.94¼; bankers', 60 days, $3.88; bankers', 90 days, $3.86; commercial 60 days, $3.86; commercial, 90 days, $3.84. City News in Brief

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CIRCUIT JUDGE CALHOUN WILL speak on "Vocational Training for Boys" at 9 o'clock tonight at an open meeting for men and women at the Carondelet Library, under the auspices of the Carondelet Improvement Association.

POLICE ITEMS

MRS. JAMES MAHON, 4201 ASHLAND avenue, returning home at 8 p. m. yesterday from shopping noticed a light burning in a front room and upon investigating found two men gathering up the family clothes and silverware. They fled out a rear door as she entered the room, leaving their plunder behind. The home of John Hawkins, 2221 Olive street, was robbed of $200 in jewelry and clothing.

AN AUTOMOBILE TRUCK VALUED AT $4000, belonging to the Conrad Grocery Co., 18 North Sixth street, was stolen last night from the company's garage, at Twenty-third and Randolph streets. An automobile valued at $1000, belonging to William A. Kammerer, 5537 Waterman avenue, was stolen from in front of Washington University, where it was parked, last night.

MRS. JENNIE SCHIELDS, 49 YEARS old, a scrubwoman at the city hospital, was arrested last night at the instance of Dr. Rolla Henry, superintendent, who said that 24 towels, two pillow cases and two napkins belonging to the institution had been found in the woman's locker. Mrs. Schields said she had not intended to keep the linens.

FRANK MACCARTHY, 26 YEARS OLD, 5925 Theodosia avenue, is held by the police for the Federal authorities, upon the statement of James Archey, special policeman, that yesterday he bought a drink of whisky for 35 cents from MacCarthy, in the soft-drink establishment of Patrick Kissane, 5983 Theodosia avenue.

ARMED WITH A CHUNK OF KINDLING wood, Isabelle Anders, 13 years old of 2604A North Ninth street, routed two daylight burglars, one of whom was armed with a revolver, whom she found ransacking the home at 4 p. m. yesterday. The men abandoned a basket they had filled with jewelry and clothing taken from the rooms.

SAMUEL ALECK OF 2519 NORTH Tenth street was arrested charged with careless driving last night, after an automobile he was operating ran on the sidewalk and through two plate-glass windows in the office of the Kardell Motor Co., 3145 Locust street, damaging the windows $300. Aleck told the police the steering gear jammed.

MISCELLANEOUS

OFFICERS OF ST. LOUIS MOOSE LODGE were installed at the Planters Hotel last night, following the admission of a large class of candidates. John F. Turner is supreme dictator of the local lodge. The membership drive will be continued indefinitely. About 1000 new members have been taken into St. Louis Lodge since the drive began. The lodge indorsed the municipal bond issue.

OSCAR HANSON, 40 YEARS OLD RESIDING at the Howard Hotel, Fifteenth and Market streets, was taken to the city hospital last night after he had been found dazed on the street near the hotel. Doctors said he was suffering from the effects of denatured alcohol.

DAMAIN RAICOFF, 28 YEARS OLD, proprietor of the Numa Hotel, 1600 Market street, was burned on the hands and left arm at 5 p. m. yesterday when a sleeve of his shirt, from which the cuff button had fallen, caught fire from the hotel furnace. He was taken to the city hospital.

JOHN M. FERGUSON, 5422 GILMORE avenue, and Estella Trussell, 4714 Beacon avenue, both of St. Louis, were refused a marriage license yesterday in East St. Louis because of the girl's youthful appearance. She gave her age as 18, and Ferguson said he was 22.

MRS. GEORGE GELLHORN, CHAIRMAN of the Missouri League of Women Voters; Mrs. Olive B. Swan, executive secretary, and Mrs. B. F. Bush, chairman of the Platform Committee, will depart tomorrow to attend a board meeting of the Missouri League of Women Voters in St. Joseph Thursday.

SUGAR, WITH 6-POINT ADVANCE, IS CHIEF FEATURE ON CURB

NEW YORK, April 13.—The sugar group was again the chief feature of trading on the Broad Street Curb today, speculative interest being concentrated to a great extent in the dealings in the new Cuba-American Sugar Refining stock in which the transactions were on a large scale all through the day. Although there was little trading in the old stock on the exchange the new stock on the curb made an advance of 6 points to 64, equal to 640 for the undivided shares traded in on the exchange. Many of the other sugar stocks, including Santa Cecelia and the large number that is traded in over the counter were also in urgent demand at violent advances and the conditions in the sugar trade were the subject of general discussions, many statements being made as to the amount of sugar these companies have available to market at the present high prices for raw and refined sugar.

The petroleum stocks did not follow the strength displayed on the exchange to any material extent. This may have been partly due to the devotion of trading generally to the sugar stocks. The oil stocks were not in supply to any increased amount, but there did not seem to be any disposition to accumulate these issues on the part of market operations. Island Oil was traded in at 7⅞ and 7¼ and General Asphalt yielded from 98 to 96 with a rally in the late trading. Texas Company sold off slightly on a small amount of business. Reports from the oil fields continued to tell of energetic development work and prospects of heavy increased production, but for the time these reports are without market influence.

Industrials generally were quiet, American Safety Razor selling at 9¾ to 10. British-American Tobacco issues, however, were stronger and more active than they have been at any previous time this year. More than 10,000 shares of the coupon stock were traded in at 20 to 21¼, and 5000 shares of the registered stock sold at 20 to 20¼.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Raw sugar firm; centrifugal, 17.80c; fine granulated, 16@16.50c. Futures were quiet during the morning, with trading confined to the July position, which was 20 points higher on covering and buying by commission houses, prompted by the strength of the spot market.

Sugar futures closed firm; sales 1150 tons; May, 18.05c; July, 18.40c; Aug., 18.45c; Sept., 18.50c.

Lead and Slab Zinc.

Lead was firm at $8.75 bid per 100 pounds for April and May delivery. Slab zinc quoted at $8.40 per 100 pounds.

WIDE FLUCTUATIONS IN CORN FUTURES ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

Sentiment was mixed at the opening of the grain market here this morning, but profit-taking orders by bulls on Monday's late rally were waiting to be expected, and initial quotations were a fraction to 1c lowed on corn and oats futures. Developments in the railroad strike looked more favorable, and weather over the growing belt was decidedly improved.

Hogs opened higher at Chicago, but this failed to affect grain prices, it being realized that the advance was due to small receipts rather than a big demand. Northwestern receipts of wheat were heavy, 562 cars, against 191 cars last year. Foreign news was scarce and of no great importance, and Eastern exporters reported a dull overnight inquiry for both wheat and coarse grains.

Weakness became more pronounced as the session progressed, and around noon losses of approximately 2c were recorded on corn options. The full decline was not held, however, as in the last hour a vigorous rally set in during the course of which the distant months recovered a good part of their losses and May corn went to Monday's closing figure.

Riordan-Martin say: Bradstreets report exports corn from America, exclusive of lake ports or Mexico since July 1, 3,299,000 against 13,987,000 same time last year. With crop approximately 3,000,000 bu 15 per cent of which leaves the farms or about 450,000,000 bu. Hogs selling about $6 less than a year ago and cash corn selling higher. The cold weather has played havoc with thousands of young pigs. Practical feeder declares at present prices feeder could just break even feeding 80c corn at prices cattle command. If he cannot feed corn at a fair profit he is not liable to feed at all, but dispose of his surplus stock and sell his corn, which we believe many will do when the strike is over and car conditions improve. We shall see corn receipts increase very materially and it will be then that the supply and demand will regulate prices instead of an abnormal condition that has confronted us for months.

LIVESTOCK

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., April 13. —Today's estimated livestock receipts: Cattle and calves, none; hogs, 133; sheep, none; horses and mules, none.

CATTLE—No fresh receipts of cattle were estimated to arrive today, although there were several hundred holdovers from last week, and the few sales made on these appeared unevenly higher. There were not enough transactions made, however, to quote the market. Packers claim the outlook is bright for a speedy resumption of normal conditions, although they failed to be in especially urgent need of supplies today.

HOGS—About 300 fresh hogs arrived today by boat and there was a holdover of approximately 3500. Market was very much a repetition of the preceding session, with spots a little more firm. A top of $15.50 was established and bulk of the light hogs cleared from $15 to that figure. Medium and strong weights commanded a range of $13.50 to $14.25 and extremely heavies extended from $12.75@13.25. Not enough pigs to make a market. Movement not hardly as good on rough hogs, but prices remained unchanged, the bulk clearing at $11 per cwt.

SHEEP—Sheep and lamb market continues without supplies. This is the fourth consecutive market day that there have been no receipts in this department.

HORSES AND MULES—No fresh receipts of horses or mules were estianted to arrive today, and both departments early practically were at a standstill. Railroads early today were still maintaining an embargo against receiving stock from country points, although there were some efforts made to move supplies from these yards via the M. & O. and the B. & O. Railroads. Few horses are left in the commission barns, although holdover supply of mules number close to 170 head.

COTTON MARKET IRREGULAR ON RAILROAD STRIKE NEWS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Continued nervousness over the railroad strike showed itself in the irregular opening of the cotton market today. First prices were steady, at a decline of 20 to 50 points on the old-crop positions while the new crop was 10 points lower to 3 points higher, with January showing the advance, owing to unfavorable weather news. There was local selling on the labor troubles and the easier tone of foreign exchange, but the bullish crop advices held sellers in check and the market steadied up shortly after the call. May rallied from 41.15c to 41.35c, while October sold up from 34.68c to 34.92c, or about unchanged to 15 points net higher on the general list.

Prices weakened during the middle of the morning under Liverpool selling, liquidation and local pressure with old crop months selling 35 points and the new crop about 12 to 26 points net lower. This carried May off to 41c and October to 34.50c, but as soon as the volume of liquidation subsided prices steadied up again on the unfavorable weather and crop news with October advancing to 34.95c, or 10 points net higher around midday. Old crop positions recovered all but 3 or 4 points of the early losses.

Old crop positions sold 4 to 5 points and the new crop 33 to 36 points net higher in the early afternoon on bullish crop advices and the detailed weather reports, which were regarded as foreshadowing a bullish weekly weather report tomorrow. After selling at 41.39c for May and 35.21c for October, however, there were reactions of a few points under realizing.

St. Louis Cotton Market.

Liverpool Spot Cotton.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

JUST A TIP.

Just a minute—Mr. Photo Play Director—
Of the rumpus and the ruction that you fellows call production
Which are requisite to make a movie-show,
But a rank, and quite unprejud'ced outsider,
With no animus nor venom in his bean,
Though he doesn't criticise you takes occasion to apprise you
That the vamps that you employ are far too lean.

But the maiden who is beautifully plump,
On the gilded son of Banker Abner Jones?
Is it lithe and lissome Minnie, who is rather to the skinny.
Or Matilda, who has something on her bones?

If your heroes all were world-worn Paris roues,
Or were ancient, grizzly-headed London rakes,
They might fall for the attractions and the anacondish actions,
Of the vamp whose architecture apes the snakes,
But the rubes that you want frisked of papa's millions,

So you'd best dismiss the svelte and sylph-like creatures,
And you will—if you will only look about—

A MILLENNIUM.

DEDUCTIVE REASONING.

We don't know what they put into those boot-leg cocktails, but we notice the price of gasoline has nearly doubled since they started to make 'em.

HOW CAN WE HELP IT.

Young John D. says we think too much about the pay we are going to get. Yet if we don't, somebody else will get it.
